CONVERSATIONS AT WASHINGTON RATED OF HIGHEST VALUE

Premier R. B. Bennett Emphatic in Appreciation of President Roosevelt's Initiative—Joint Communique Will Be Issued Today—Gives Address on Monetary Problems

WASHINGTON, April 28 (CP). — Emphatic in his declaration that his conversations here have been of the greatest possible value, Premier R. B. Bennett, tonight, expressed his warm appreciation for the initiative taken by President Roosevelt. No one but the President of the United States could have accomplished the results he obtained. The discussions between the chief executive and representatives of the various nations had, Mr. Bennett believed, assured the success of the World Economic Conference.

The Canadian Prime Minister was speaking to pressmen at the close of negotiations, which have lasted since Wednesday, between the President and himself. Mr. Bennett emphasized several times the important step President Roosevelt had taken in inviting the nations to pre-conference discussions, and the success which has followed.

PLANS FOR CO-OPERATION

The representatives of Great Britain, France and Canada will go back to work in well-directed lines. Each will know the views of the other and harmonize plans for co-operation.

The Prime Minister would not commit himself as to details, pending issuance of a joint communique by the President and himself tomorrow, but he left no doubt of his satisfaction over the useful work accomplished, and his appreciation of the efforts of the President. The will of all to co-operate, as shown in his conversations not only with Mr. Roosevelt, but with British and French representatives as well, seemed to have impressed the Prime Minister deeply.

There seems to be no doubt that a great deal of emphasis was laid during the discussions on monetary stability. It may require parliamentary action on the part of Canada to join in the general movement to stabilize currency, it was stated in well-informed quarters tonight.

SOME FURTHER MATTERS

The Prime Minister is staying over tomorrow and will possibly see the President again. He will take up some further matters with the State Department on Saturday.

ALL GERMANY TO CELEBRATE

May Day Plans Being Completed as Cleaning Process Continues

BERLIN, April 28 (AP). — All Germany is preparing feverishly for a national May Day celebration, which will be on a scale that the newspaper Tempo, with satisfaction, says will beat "anything ever seen, even in America."

The preparations include provisions for a crowd of 1,500,000 persons, who are expected to hear Chancellor Adolf Hitler speak at the Tempelhoif airfield, where ninety loudspeakers and 550 searchlights are being installed. A fireworks display of colossal proportions will end the day.

TO CHRISTEN PLANE

The Chancellor tomorrow will christen Germany's biggest aircraft, a four-motored plane, to be named the "Hindenburg."

Meanwhile, departments of Herr Hitler's new Nazi Government are continuing their cleansing process with undiminished vigor.

A police raid was made today on Communist headquarters in Charlottenburg, where arms and literature were seized. Another raid was conducted in the Gelsenkirchen region, where eighty alleged Communists were apprehended. Their leader, Albert Funk, was killed when he jumped from a window of the police station.

MAGAZINES BANNED

About thirty more foreign publications were added today to the Government's blacklist. They were mostly Leftist organs, published in nearby countries, but among them was a magazine published in New York (The New Masses) and one published in Toronto (The Workers).

REPORT CHINESE TROOPS IN ROUT

Japanese Say Lines Briken After Furious Assaults—Preparing for Further Attacks

TOKIO, April 29 (AP).—A Rengo (Japanese) News Agency dispatch said today that the Eighth Japanese Division of Lieut.-General Yoshikazu Nishi, after furious assaults, had broken the Chinese lines near the Kupeikon Pass to the Great Wall, compelling a disorderly retreat southwestward.

The Japanese were said to be reorganizing their forces and preparing for further attacks. Chinese losses were declared heavy.

TRUCE MAY BE DECLARED

Franco-American Tariffs Agreement Possible Before World Conference

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP). — The possibility of a tariff truce between the United States and France until the opening of the World Economic Conference was indicated tonight by former Premier Edouard Herriot.

Homeward bound from his White House conversations, the former Premier came to New York from Washington late today. He will sail with his party tomorrow on the Ile de France.

M. Herriot said President Roosevelt and he had discussed the idea of a tariff truce.

NEEDS FURTHER STUDY

"This must be further studied," the former Premier said. "Its duration and methods must be closely examined. I hope the truce may at least operate until the opening of the World Economic Conference."

Tonight was a busy one for the former Premier. He went with Alfred E. Smith to the top of the Empire State Building to see the bright lights below, addressed a banquet of the French Chamber of Commerce, and in the interim, at a press conference, discussed his Washington visit at length with two dozen news writers.

GREAT CONTRIBUTION

M. Herriot said he discussed tariffs, disarmament and security with the President. "I think it is Mr. Roosevelt's great idea to develop the Kellogg Pact," he said. "It is necessary to develop and define this treaty further. President Roosevelt, I think, is making a great contribution to world peace in this effort."

BODY OF HINKLER FOUND IN ITALY

FLORENCE, Italy, April 28 (AP). —The charred body of Bert Hinkler, Australian airman, lost last January in a projected England-to-Australia flight, was found by two charcoal burners today in the woods on the mountainside near Pratomagno, near the charred wreckage of his airplane.

The airman's passport was found on the body, thus removing the last trace of doubt about the identification. The body was being taken to Castel San Nicolo to await direction from the British consular authorities.

British Engineers In Russian Court

TWO scenes at the trial in Moscow of six British subjects and eleven Russians charged with sabotage and espionage. William H. Thornton, shown standing in the prisoner's box, second in charge of the Metropolitan-Vickers' operations in Russia, was sentenced to three years' imprisonment, while another British defendant received a two years' sentence. All eleven Russians were convicted. Inset shows the court of four judges hearing the testimony.

Aquarian Farms Show Appalling Work of Vandals

Buildings Wrecked on DeCourcy and Valdes Islands While Lawsuits Are Pending—Big Vessel Scuttled—Horses Stolen and Fruit Trees Uprooted

(Special to The Colonist)

NANAIMO, April 28. — Desolation stalks on DeCourcy Islands and the Aquarian lands of Valdes. Brother XII, otherwise Amiel de Valdes, or Edward Arthur Wilson, self-styled chela, or representative of a divinity, has gone. He has vanished from the pleasant acres where he reigned with the power of a potentate, and his conquerors in the courts of the land do not know where he has gone.

The DeCourcy Islands, where a City of Refuge was to be built, and where a palace to be called Greystones was to be erected and Valdes Island, where the Mandieh Settlement for the elect of the Aquarian cult was to be established, today presented scenes of wanton destruction. These lands were awarded by Chief Justice Morrison to Mrs. Mary W. T. Connally. The lands are there, but the buildings and farm appurtenances stand out damaged and destroyed beyond estimation.

GREAT DAMAGE

At the DeCourcy farm, windows of buildings have been smashed, doors torn from their hinges, water tanks and cisterns have been hacked and punctured, fencing ripped up and, in some cases, carried away. Fruit trees have been uprooted, and fifty walnut trees have been removed.

From the barn there has disappeared a mowing machine, seed cleaner, root slicer and cultivator, while other equipment has been rendered useless.

Two horses and a flock of chickens have vanished.

In the farmhouse linoleum was found to have been torn up, crockery stolen or broken, while in a smaller house even the sink had been taken away, while supplies were ruined with evident malicious intent.

At The Point, near where Brother XII had caused fortifications to be erected, as would a feudal baron of old to protect his lands, further

THREE SURVIVE AIRPLANE CRASH

Five Others Killed in Wreck of Air Liner in Italy—Lost Last Sunday

ROME, April 28 (AP). — Missing since last Sunday, the Air-Orient passenger plane was found wrecked today on Mount Scifarelli, near Caracena, in Calabria. Five of the occupants were dead, and three survivors were found at the scene of the crash. The plane apparently had crashed against the tall wooded mountain. It was flying from Corfu, Greece, to Rome, when the crash occurred.

The three survivors were found sitting in the cabin of their wrecked plane, huddled together because of the severe cold, and suffering from shock, but otherwise not dangerously injured.

The survivors kept alive on sandwiches, chocolate and biscuits; a regular part of the plane equipment for ships of the line. They ate snow to quench their thirst.

Members of the Forestry Militia found them, and gave them cordials and fresh water.

SERIOUSLY HURT BY UNIDENTIFIED MOTOR

VANCOUVER, April 28.—John Grant, forty-seven, East Georgia, was seriously injured when he was struck by an unidentified automobile. The injured man was removed to the General Hospital, where it was discovered that he had suffered a fractured left leg, concussion and bruises. Mr. Grant was about to board a street car when he was run down by the auto, which was driven away quickly.

FLARE-UP AT ARMS PARLEY

German and French Delegates Clash—U.S. Supports British Proposals

GENEVA, April 28 (AP). — A head-on collision between French and German delegates that threatened to disrupt the World Disarmament Conference was smoothed over today by the intervention of Norman H. Davis, the United States envoy, who also forcefully placed American support behind Great Britain's arms reduction proposals.

Mr. Davis recalled the constructive efforts being made in Washington to put the troubled world in order, and pleaded that all show a similar attempt to conciliate at Geneva.

In order not to "jeopardize the balance" of the arms reduction proposals recently submitted by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, the United States ambassador at large said his Government supported the British plan. The statement was one of the dramatic developments in the day's discussions.

WOULD GO FARTHER

"The plan does not go as far in limiting armed forces as we would like," Mr. Davis said. "Nevertheless, we feel that our efforts should be concentrated on adopting the plan as a whole without modification."

The cyclone struck the conference when Count Rudolph Nadolny, of Germany, complained Germany had been waiting fourteen years for the powers to make good their promises to reduce armaments, and when Rene Massigli, of France, retorted that "it is my duty to invite those bringing the accusation that certain powers, including France, have failed to fulfill their engagements, to re-read the parable of the mote and the beam."

SCRAP OF PAPER

This was interpreted by the delegates as an allusion to charges in the past that Germany regarded treaties as a scrap of paper.

Count Nadolny vehemently repudiated M. Massigli's assertion that amendments introduced by the Germans to the British arms reductions suggestions proved that Germany intended to re-arm. He declared the whole question was whether other powers intended to disarm.

French Loan Negotiated In England

PARIS, April 28 (AP).—A loan of £30,000,000 (approximately $114,000,000 currently) for six months to the French Treasury at 2 1-2 per cent interest by a group of English banks was negotiated today.

Details of the loan arrangement were mostly worked out during the last visit to London of Georges Bonnet, French Finance Minister. He conferred there with officials of the Bank of England, but it was stated semi-officially tonight the British Treasury will play no part in the loan operations.

B.C. GRADUATE IS GIVEN SCHOLARSHIP

NEW WESTMINSTER, April 28. —Edward F. Chapman, son of R. K. Chapman, Third Avenue, has been awarded a scholarship from the John R. Park scholarship fund by the University of Utah, Salt Lake City.

Mr. Chapman, a graduate of the University of British Columbia, is a professor of English literature at the University of Utah. He will leave Salt Lake City this Summer to study in the Eastern United States for a doctor's degree in English literature.

General Reduction Made in B.C. Beer Prices by Board

Effective Monday, May 1, Beer and Stout Will Sell for Less Throughout Province—Home Deliveries May Go Into Effect on Same Date

STRAIGHT reduction by 25 cents a dozen pints and 50c a dozen quarts was announced by the Government yesterday in the price of beer and stout, to take effect on Monday, May 1. The reduction will apply on all beer and stout sold at vendors' stores and to licencees by the Liquor Control Board. The same cut is given at every point in the province, difference in freight rates accounting for different selling prices at various points.

Victoria, Esquimalt, Duncan and Nanaimo prices, for instance, will be $1.75 per dozen pints, and $3 per dozen quarts. At Atlin, in the north end of the province, consumers will pay $2.75 per dozen pints, and $4.65 per dozen quarts. Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria, and by far the greater number of centres close to the Coast, will take the lowest selling rate, while any difference there may be will be on account of the cost of freight to the points concerned.

PREPARE DELIVERIES

While definite announcement was withheld, pending final settlement of the details, the Liquor Control Board was also moving yesterday to bring about delivery of beer to homes on telephone orders by May 1, if possible. W. F. Kennedy, liquor commissioner, was in Vancouver in connection with the plan.

Under the home delivery scheme, if it goes through as projected, consumers would receive a rebate from the breweries on return of the bottles, further reducing the price of beer and stout.

The Government ratified its price reductions yesterday by order-in-council, appending a scale of selling prices at every point in the province where there are vendors' stores. The basic reduction in each case is 50 cents per dozen quarts.

MOMENTOUS PROGRAMME OF INFLATION PASSES U.S. SENATE

Measure to Give President Vast Powers to Attack Depression Given Swift Passage—Soldiers' Bonus Motion Defeated—Currency May Be Expanded by Six Billions

May Accept $200,000,000 In Silver on Debt Payment

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP). — The Roosevelt Administration's momentous farm relief-inflation programme was passed by the United States Senate tonight and sent to the House on a surging wave of Democratic and Western Republican votes. The vote, 64 to 20, came after three weeks of comprehensive debate and climaxed a final two hours of swift-moving events and roll calls that oldest members could not recall ever having seen equaled.

Included in these was rejection of the soldiers' bonus amendment by 60 to 28, and a favorable vote of 53 to 32 for an amendment to the inflation plan to increase from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 the amount President Roosevelt may accept in silver at fifty cents an ounce in the next six months on the war debts.

SWEEPING LEGISLATION

The legislation, vastly changed since the original Roosevelt Farm Bill passed the House of Representatives, is the most sweeping in character ever to go through Congress, although action under nearly all of its provisions is discretionary with the administration.

It vests extensive permissive powers in the President to expand America's credit and currency by at least $6,000,000,000 and places equally as broad authority in Secretary Wallace of the Agriculture Department to raise further the prices of basic farm commodities through the levying of processing taxes and licensing fees, and through marketing agreements and controlled production.

The inflation section, offered by Senator Thomas, Democrat from Oklahoma, with administration approval, was approved 64 to 21, with

Salmon Treaty May Be Ratified After Long Delay

WASHINGTON, April 28 (CP). — Belief in semi-official circles here is that the Sockeye Salmon Treaty between Canada and the United States stands a good chance of ratification with slight modifications. Canada ratified the treaty in 1929 but it has so far failed to get by the United States Senate. It is designed to protect the salmon fisheries on the Fraser River and Puget Sound.

Two Sales Fine Omens To Farmers

VANGUARD, Sask., April 29 (CP). — Vanguard merchants are still talking about two sales made here Wednesday.

A man walked into the Farmers' Trading Company Store and bought a raincoat. It was the first raincoat sold since 1929.

On the same day a traveler bought a set of tire chains from the garage. It was the first set of chains sold since 1929.

Vanguard lies in the dried-out area. The two sales are regarded as good omens.

DAVID NICHOL RESCUES CHUM

Little Playmates Bonded Together by Heroic Deed —Drowning Is Averted

Eight-year-old Robert Colman, of 3025 Jutland Street, owes his life to the quick thinking of his nine-year-old companion, David Nichol, of 3020 Jutland Street.

Robert was playing on some logs in the Gorge yesterday afternoon when he lost his footing and slipped into the water. David quickly threw himself flat on the log boom and grasped Robert by the sweater and hauled him out.

The boy was unable to swim so that if David had not been so quick as he was, the accident might have been of a tragic character.

David and Robert are close friends, but now the former is a hero in the eyes of the latter and the bond of friendship has been knitted closer by the risk that David took.

New Zealand Has Surplus To End Year

WELLINGTON, N.Z., April 28 (CP). — New Zealand closed her 1932-1933 financial year with a small surplus.

Contrary to expectations, J. G. Coates, Minister of Finance, announced today revenues had increased in the last three months of the fiscal year sufficiently to turn what in January was expected to be a budget deficit of more than £500,000 into a surplus of the present fiscal year.

CAUGHT BY POLICE TRAP

Extortion Attempt Leads to Speedy Arrest by Supposed Victim

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—Trapped in a police snare manufactured from two extortion letters to Mayor W. J. Stewart, of Toronto, Walter Lumley, 22-year-old jobless youth, was arrested tonight with a package supposed to contain $7,000 demanded of Mayor Stewart as the price of his own and family's safety. He was charged with extortion.

POSSIBLE ACCOMPLICES

In addition to Lumley, a second man alleged to be an accomplice, and a young woman, also supposed to be involved, were being questioned by police late tonight in connection with the case.

Dramatic arrest of Lumley came in a sequence of events started on April 24 when Mayor Stewart placed in the hands of the police a letter demanding $5,000 under threat of violence, perhaps death, to himself or members of his family. The same threat was made if the mayor disclosed the contents of the letter to police.

SUM IS RAISED

Following publication of this letter in the daily papers, a second letter was received. This was more strongly worded and included directions for the mayor to follow if he wished to escape the penalties. The sum demanded was raised to $7,000.

At a conference between the mayor and police officials it was decided to make up a bundle of $20 bills — police refused to give the amount—and with the undercover man who resembled Mayor Stewart attired in the mayor's clothing and his car go to the appointed place at 7 o'clock tonight, as the extortion letter instructed.

WORKS WITHOUT HITCH

Police plans clicked to perfection and the arrest was made unobtrusively as people hurried along the street unaware of the happenings at the gasoline station.

TRYING FOR COMPROMISE

TOKIO, April 29 (AP).—Repeated accusations and demands exchanged between Manchukuo and Soviet Russia producing only a deadlock, Li Shao-Keng, Manchukuan chairman of the Chinese Eastern Railway, has notified Soviet authorities that he is summoning a meeting of the directorate early in May to attempt a compromise.

DROVE HER CAR INTO THE RIVER

Mainland Woman Plunged to Death Through Open Draw of Bridge

VANCOUVER, April 28. — Mrs. Merdina Griffiths, of Lulu Island, plunged to death in the North Arm of the Fraser River when she drove her car over the open draw of the Marpole Bridge between the Mainland and Sea Island, on the night of March 10, Richmond police officers believe, following discovery of the vehicle in the water almost directly beneath the bridge.

The car from which the body of Mrs. Griffiths was washed, and later picked up down the river on April 19, was recovered today in dredging operations carried on by Captain W. Rogers, of the tug Samson, and Chief W. J. Johnson, of Richmond police. A complete investigation will be made and, if necessary, another inquest called.

TO SEEK DETAILS

Police wish to determine if the barrier, which is lowered when the swing span opens, was operating; and to discover how Mrs. Griffiths could have driven off the span without being observed.

Dredging operations, begun this morning, first resulted in discovery of the car headlights. Later, the car was brought out of the water.

Rain and wind on the night of March 10, when Mrs. Griffiths is believed to have been on her way home after a visit to the city, may have prevented anybody seeing the tragedy. The position of the car indicated that it had been driven straight off the end of the span.

Former Mayor Gale And Family Narrowly Escape Death by Gas

Six Jets Turned on by Mysterious Intruder While Six Sleep Above in Danger of Asphyxiation —Blame Vengeance-Seeking Maniac

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP). — Gas, released by an unknown hand, almost snuffed out the lives of R. Harry Gale, former mayor and financial agent, and his entire family in their home, on Hudson Avenue, early today. The others who escaped death are: Mrs. Harry Gale, the ex-mayor's wife; Harry Gale, Jr., his son, and young Gale's bride of a week, the former Margaret Macfarlane; Bobby Gale, a younger son, and May Hughes, a maid.

Mrs. Harry Gale was seriously affected by the gas, flowing from six jets of the kitchen range, but recovered.

Ex-Mayor Gale could not imagine anybody with a hatred so bitter that he would desire to wipe out the entire family.

Entry was made by the back door, apparently between 1:30 and 3:30 in the morning.

NOTHING DISTURBED

Nothing in the house was disturbed, and police are investigating on the line that a wanton murder maniac, seeking vengeance for some fancied injury, was abroad in the Shaughnessy Heights district in the early hours.

The Gale home is a two-story structure and all the family, including the maid, May Hughes, sleep on the upper floor.

"We all retired at 12 o'clock," said ex-Mayor Gale today, "but my wife, who is a fitful sleeper, read until 1 o'clock. I read for a while, too."

Mrs. Gale said that she dropped off to sleep shortly after 1 o'clock. At about 3:30 she awoke. She did not smell the gas, but experienced a "heavy" feeling. She fell into sleep again.

MEMBER SPIES SPIES ON COAST

Thomas Reid Tells Dominion House Japanese Naval Officers Disguise as Fishermen

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP). — Charges that Japanese naval officers in the guise of fishermen had obtained employment on fishing vessels in British Columbia and had actually been devoting their activities to familiarizing themselves with Canada's Pacific Coast were made in the House of Commons tonight by Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster). Mr. Reid was speaking during a discussion on the fisheries estimates.

Protesting against increasing the number of fishing licences to Japanese, Mr. Reid declared that any such increase would result merely in building up a piece of Japan in Canada. Many officers of the Japanese naval service had made it a practice to secure employment as fishermen on Japanese-owned vessels.

"They were spying, really," Mr. Reid said, "and I am not afraid to say so."

Spring Flower Show Opened at Willows; Judging Is Finished

Mrs. E. H. Keene Outstanding Among Individual Contestants—Many Rare Alpine Plants and District Displays Are Shown

THE last two weeks of brilliant sunshine were conducive to the holding of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association's seventh annual Spring Flower Show at the Willows, with the result that those who attended the opening in the Horse Show Building, yesterday afternoon, were given a glorious treat in color and display.

Accredited the most outstanding show yet held by the association, the public interest in the floral displays substantiated the claim of the officers. The list of competitors was long, while private non-competitive displays surpassed those of former years.

WINS MANY PRIZES

Probably the most outstanding feature in the competitive field was the success that attended the individual exhibits of Mrs. E. H. Keene, who won twenty-four first and six second prizes in the daffodil section. Supplementing this was her success in the tulip section where she won seven firsts, and her further success in the hyacinths sections where she won six firsts, not to mention the second prizes.

Likewise in these divisions Angus McKay and Mrs. E. W. Darcus were close contestants for secondary honors. Mrs. Keene won the bronze medal awards in three divisions of the daffodil classes and a bronze medal award in the early group tulip section. Mrs. Darcus won two bronze medal awards in the tulip division.

FORECAST WINNER

When the winner of the highest points in the entire show is announced, it is fully expected that Mrs. Keene's name will be the one that is given, owing to the many prizes she has won.

Of particular interest outside the individual contest was the competition among the district displays. In this division the Cowichan Horticultural Association came first, but not without keen competition from the Victoria Horticultural Society and the North and South Saanich Horticultural Association. Their displays were gorgeous to behold.

RARE PLANTS

Among the non-competitive exhibits was a group of rock plants, numbering 120 rare varieties. This collection was valued at nearly $1,000.

In another display there were seventy varieties, including three rare finds recently brought under cultivation. These are native Alpines and are the Viola Flettii, Lewisa Tweedyi and Potentilla Verna Nana, all obtained from the state of Washington and never shown here before.

RHODODENDRON DISPLAY

Another firm had a remarkable display of rhododendrons, magnolias and camellias, banked in front of a twenty-four foot Cedar of Lebanon. Early dogwood and many wild flowers completed the picture.

The Dominion Experimental Farm and the city parks also contributed to the many displays.

Among the exhibits much admired by those who attended were a number of charming Ashwyane pottery. Small rock plants were put into the pots, which were chiefly of Indian design. They are the work of Mrs. V. Ashdown and Mrs. D. Swayne.

From Stone to Flying Age

FROM the Stone Age to the age of airplanes is the vast gap bridged by this million-year-old couple, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Gugu, who are pictured as they boarded an airplane at New York for a flight to Chicago, where they will be exhibited at the Century of Progress Exposition. The ancients are models, created by scientists in exact duplicate of their prototypes who lived when the world was young. They are motivated by mechanism which enables them to talk and walk.

Splendid Presentation Of Mystical Drama Given

"Outward Bound" Movingly Acted by Little Theatre Association Players — Character Roles Have Sensitive Individuality

If the plays to be offered during the coming Drama Festival Week are to be of the calibre of last night's Little Theatre Association presentation of "Outward Bound," at the Shrine Auditorium, then Victoria may at once prepare for six days of undiluted enjoyment. The performance will be repeated tonight.

The Sutton Vane drama, which is in the form of a mystical allegory, is unquestionably the most grippingly convincing thing the company has staged up to the present time. This is due to the uniform excellence of the casting of the roles even more than to the choice of the play, although the popularity of this had already been proved by other companies in some of the most critical theatrical centres of Europe and America. The company is not yet entirely free of minor technical mistakes in production, but in the essential things that stand for fine art, sincerity, fine balance and interplay of character, unity of plot, and a gift of "putting over the personality," this production bears the stamp of quality.

REAL TEST

One of the real tests was passed in the handling by the various actors of the emotional scenes. Audiences invariably sense the ridiculous where there is any weakness at such times. But last night the incidents struck just the right chord and people were intensely moved.

The story has to do with the little group of passengers who find themselves outward bound on a liner which, as one by one gradually discovers, has set out on the sea of the hereafter freighted with the souls of After-Death. Strange oblivion blots from memory of each and all the fact of death, and it is only through accumulated evidence of ghostly "differences" from ordinary vessels that passengers come to realize where they are going.

LEARNS TRUTH FIRST

Strangely enough it is Tom Prior, the drunken ne'er-do-weel, who senses the truth first. He corroborates his discovery through "Scrubby," the steward, with whom he has early and frequent dealings through frequenting the bar immediately on coming aboard. And the least sensitive and unimpressed of the passengers are Mrs. Cliveden Banks, a sophisticated, selfish, hard-eyed poseur, and the boastful and pompous Mr. Lingley, a blusteringly busy business man.

Every part is splendidly portrayed, each has fine individual distinction, the cast being as follows: Scrubby, played by Hugh Creelman; Ann, played by Betty Jennings; Henry, by Charles Swannell; Tom Prior, Roy Shadbolt; Mrs. Cliveden-Banks, Mabel Ridley; Rev. William Duke, Jack Shadbolt; Mrs. Midget, Gwen Downes; Mr. Lingley, Leslie Hardie, and Rev. William Thomson, Charles Ozard.

malicious vandalism was evident. Every effort was made to destroy equipment and buildings. Here the sawmill was rendered valueless by damage to machinery; houses were hacked and ripped, showing the work of vicious destructiveness that was evidently carefully planned and systematically executed. Doors, windows, cupboards were removed or smashed.

BOAT SCUTTLED

Here, too, was testimony of particular wantonness. The Lady Royal, the fine Brixton smack that Brother XII used in sailing across the Atlantic in 1930, was scuttled. Evidently dynamite was used to sink her, for there is a large hole near the keel that shows that it was blown outward, while the shattered mast also indicates an explosion.

Similar acts of vandalism feature the Valdes Island centre, where even the schoolhouse did not escape, and desks were hurled through windows to break the castings on the ground. Houses were pillaged and wrecked.

No such scene of intended destruction has been witnessed in British Columbia for years; not only were the doors and windows removed from some of the houses, but in one case a large tree was deliberately felled across the roof of the house, the cutting on the stump showing clearly that the purpose was one of wanton destruction.

As there is ample evidence to show that this work of destruction took place after suit was filed, it is expected that the authorities will take immediate action to investigate the whole matter and effect the arrest of those responsible, for property in the custody of the court.

A veil of secrecy rests over the actual results achieved in discussion between Canada and the United States, but the word from the White House today that no difficulty had arisen because of the Imperial Conference agreements, in fact that they had not even been discussed, together with the Prime Minister's optimism tonight as to the general outcome of the conversations, seemed to indicate the discussions went along very satisfactorily.

WASHINGTON, April 28 (CP). — An appeal for stabilization of world currencies was made tonight by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett as he wound up three days of discussion on world economic problems with President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In a public address, the Canadian Premier spoke of the great economic and monetary problems the nations of the world will face at the London Economic Conference.

Momentous Programme of Inflation Passes U.S. Senate

only three Democrats voting against it.

The controlled inflation contemplates an expansion up to $3,000,000,000 of credit through open market purchases of Government securities by Federal Reserve Banks, and if this is not adequate in getting money into circulation and lifting prices, the President would have the option of:

Directing the issuance of $3,000,000,000 in Treasury notes or new currency to purchase outstanding Government obligations and provide for appropriations to redeem 4 per cent of the notes annually for twenty-five years.

GOLD CONTENT

Lowering the gold content of the dollar by not more than 50 per cent, either by proclamation or by international agreement looking to a stabilization of world currencies and exchanges.

Accepting up to $200,000,000 in silver at not more than fifty cents an ounce as payments on war debts due the United States in the next six months; to issue silver certificates against the silver and coin the metal to meet any demands for redemption of the certificates.

Remonetizing silver at a ratio with gold fixed by the President and free coinage of both gold and silver at such ratio.

SAFEGUARDS IN PLAN

Several safeguards are thrown around the inflation plan and Democratic chieftains have announced it would be used "prudently."

The Senate appointed four conferees to adjust differences with the House on the legislation. Its adoption by the House is assured.

Besides aiming to raise prices of basic farm commodities, the farm sections of the legislation provide for refinancing the farm mortgage indebtedness, estimated at $8,500,000,000. This section provides for a $2,000,000,000 Federal land bank bond issue, with a 4 per cent interest rate to be guaranteed by the Government.

MORTGAGE REFINANCING

Mortgages would be refinanced at 4 1-2 per cent through the land bank system, with the 1 per cent annual amortization requirement of the land banks suspended for five years.

The nine commodities included for price-lifting benefits are wheat, cotton, corn, hogs, rice, tobacco, sugar cane, sugar beets and dairy products. An initial appropriation of $100,000,000 is provided to start the farm machinery, to be repaid the Government from collections of the processing tax.

FORMER MAYOR GALE AND FAMILY NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH BY GAS

"At 4:35," said Mr. Gale, "my son, Harry, awakened, smelled gas and ran downstairs.

A RUSH OF GAS

"In the kitchen there was such a rush of gas that he was almost overcome. He saw the six jets of the kitchen range turned wide open. He closed them and roused the rest of us. Mrs. Gale, who was nearer to the stairs than the others, was the most seriously affected."

The back door, which leads to the yard and the garage, had been opened. The key, which had been in the lock when the family retired the previous night, lay on the floor. Apparently it had been pushed in from the outside and entry made by means of a skeleton key. The swing door from the kitchen to the hall, which in turn leads to the stairs, was opened wide, and to make sure that the door would remain open a newspaper had been placed under it. The oven door, which is also fitted with a spring lock, was wide open.

Mr. Gale said that he had never at any time received any threatening notes.

BANK ROBBERS SPRAY STREET WITH BULLETS

MADISON, Minnesota, April 28 (AP). — Three residents were wounded and a bank official slugged, today, by three gunmen who raided the Klein National Bank and fled with $2,000.

Spraying city streets with machine gun, rifle and pistol fire as they escaped, the bandits endangered the lives of at least twenty-five persons, firing point blank at a group of workmen back of the bank and shooting promiscuously as they roared out of town.

"ONE day I discovered why other blondes were more popular than I—their hair was like brilliant, shimmering gold, while mine was faded and lifeless. BLONDEX, an amazing special shampoo, has now made my hair young again, gleaming with the golden sunshine color that fascinated the man I was to marry. My husband now says that had it not been for my beautiful hair he does not think he would have noticed me among so many attractive girls. How glad I am I discovered BLONDEX in time!" NOTE:—BLONDEX contains no dye, no harmful chemicals—it is amazingly beneficial, giving the hair a wavy, silky softness and lustrous sheen. BLONDEX comes in two sizes—the big economical $1.00 bottle and the new, inexpensive 25c size. Get it today at any drug or department store.

Motor Offerings Exceed Forecast In Lower Prices

Many New Ideas Are Introduced — Savings Effected by Latest Vehicles Will Be Reflected in Cheaper Costs of Transportation— General Improvements Made

By A. J. SCAIFE
President of the Society of Automotive Engineers, Inc.

TO indigitate the novelties on 1933 motor cars is to sum up numerous improvements in power, strength, rigidity, noise elimination, ease of operation, economy and general fairness of appearance. As one of the leading makers has expressed it: "We aim to give the public a superquality car at a greatly reduced price." Many of the companies have succeeded. They are now offering more for the money than was ever thought possible.

The engineers and production men have been driven to greater effort than ever before, but with the aid of electric welding, better materials, improved metallurgical methods, finer measuring gauges, new automatic machinery, economies of production have come and these savings have been passed on to the public. So, as in other lines of design, the motor industry enters with floors and counters filled with merchandise attractive to the eye and purse of an awakened public.

MANY ADVANCES RECORDED

Briefly, the 1933 motor cars are faster, safer, better looking, stronger, easier riding, roomier, more economical to operate, less likely to need service. In a word, much progress in the art of horseless carriage building may be credited to the industry. Motor buses, trucks, railroad power cars and other applications of the internal combustion engine to transportation, share in this advancement.

The new cars have a versatility that was unheard of a few years ago. A good car may be had now at one-eighth of the sales price of a much less attractive car of ten years ago. Cars in the low price field now are able to maintain high speeds up to seventy-five miles an hour and many will go faster with safety. There is better engine performance at low speeds, better acceleration at high. The self same vehicles will do as well on hills as on the level. Furthermore, high speed on rough roads is possible, particularly with independently-sprung wheels.

Engines now are built to run at speeds from 3,500 to 4,500 r.p.m. They will do so under difficult temperature conditions. Muffled inlets and exhaust cut down the noise. Specially constructed valves, inlaid valve seats and unique and improved valve mechanisms have given greater efficiency and less noise, as the restraining liquid, has been employed to check the inertia of moving parts.

MULTIPLE CYLINDERS

There is a tendency to maintain multiple cylinders to secure much better balancing both dynamically and statically. In the opinion of one of our discerning engineers, the limit for low weight has almost been reached as has also road clearance.

In the fight against vibration and noise, one notes many important small details which have been added to the new models. Rubber, cloth, oilite discs between spring leaves, silent U shackles, rubber cone shackles, improved shock absorbers, sound-deadening materials, such as strips of felt, reinforced rugs and numerous other clever stunts have contributed to this silencing process. Never has there been displayed so many good motor cars, so many refinements of real preciosity, so much that is utilitarian as well as decorative. Nor have these innovations been confined to outside appearance alone, although there is much that is new in bodies, particularly in ventilation.

Although no Canadian cars show such decided streamline forms as some of the foreign makes, there are timid gestures toward this admittedly more efficient form of body. Generally speaking, one finds more gentle curves, more rounded corners, smoother exteriors than have been discernable in former years. This tendency is also evidenced by lower roofs, inside visors, concealed hinges, cleverly-shaped lamps and streamlined hoods with projecting radiators, all of which show a gentle, though gradual approach to the aerofoil surface.

EXTREME FORMS IGNORED

When questioned as to why engineers have not gone to the extreme forms which are known to be more efficient, the answer is given that the sales departments do not feel that such radical changes in bodies and locations of power plants would be accepted by the buying public. Probably they are right. It took four years to sell buyers away from the rear-entrance tonneau and get them to accept the four-door side-entrance cars, and this in spite of the obvious advantages of the side entrance, especially in the mud-covered streets of thirty years ago. Radical innovations are not easy to promote. The Canadian public, in spite of its so-called progressiveness, is really quite conservative, much more so than France or England or Germany, where many streamlined cars, with motors in the rear, are being driven.

Attention to the comforts of the occupants as well as to the excellent mechanism under the hood has caused the engineers to tackle the difficult job of air conditioning. In many cases the closed car has had some disadvantages, including stuffiness, undesirable drafts, excess of moisture, window cloudiness, especially in wet or extremely cold weather, accumulation of smoke, odors and the like. Now adequately-planned ventilation has at last brought relief, and the sedan, limousine or motor coach promises to be as healthful as the open touring car. The modern systems take advantage of the wonderful opportunity which every moving vehicle has in this regard. No more clouded or frozen windshields, no musty smells, pungent odors or excessive accumulation of smoke, but a constant circulation of fresh air, free from draughts and capable of individual regulation.

In the commercial field the problem of air conditioning, the heating and cooling of motor trucks and motor coaches, is also being given extended study, and we may expect to soon see commercial vehicles provided with mechanical means of controlling ventilation and temperature as is now the case in the individually driven car field. Here, too, the problem of refrigeration becomes a most practical one, because of the perishable foodstuffs that now are transported in cross-country as well as door-to-door delivery trucks.

In motor coaches, passengers and pedestrians will be protected from disagreeable exhaust odors by means of a recently-developed exhaust ventilation system. The exhaust from an engine upon entering the atmosphere, regardless of whether it goes out at the side of the body, around the wheels or around the back, is always sightly heavier than the atmosphere, and lingers for a considerable time at the breather line until it becomes saturated with air, and then it disappears. The theory is that if the exhaust could be treated to a liberal portion of fresh air before it is released to the atmosphere, it would rise immediately above the breather line of pedestrians and the traffic following the vehicle. A plan has been devised utilizing the injector effect of the exhaust from the muffler to accomplish this desirable result in ventilation. Not only when the coach is in motion, but when it is standing still, both the occupants inside the coach and pedestrions and motorists outside share in the benefits.

WEATHER PROTECTION

Adapting a British builder's idea, some Canadian cars have been equipped with window louvres, giving protection when the windows are not fully closed. These are made of metal and glass, and are furnished in colors contrasting to the body on which they are mounted.

The coming of electric welding has made possible many fine jobs of assembly, not only in body design but in frames, engines and axles. The fabrication of parts consisting of several units welded together has cut down materially the upkeep cost and reduced the causes of noise, loosening and vibration failure. Body frames and doors are very strong and rigid. Many main frames are reinforced with cross elements. Both frames and doors fit and hold their shape. Squeaks are absent. Furthermore, the finish, which on less rigid cars showed early signs of failure and checking, now promises to remain smooth and unbroken for long periods of time.

Multiplicity of body styles is bete noire at which engineers and sales managers guns will be aimed this season. The tendency is to cut down to a minimum models and styles and leave the special job to custom builders. In England, especially this tendency has resulted in some attractive "dolled-up" habiliments.

Pleasing color combinations continue to occupy the minds of all Canadian style designers. Many are truly beautiful creations, and their sponsors deserve great commendation for their fine examples of the carriage-maker's art. Pastel shades, rather than crude color harmonies, are in evidence.

Upholstery is comparable to the best in the furniture and decorative salons. Mohair, woolens and combination fabrics, with this year a noticeable return to leather; with elaborate cords, curtains and trimmings set against spacious windows of non-shatterable glass, make even the lower-price sedan models of traveling comfort. "A drawing-room on wheels," veritably!

COULD NOT TURN HER HEAD

Her Body Had to Turn With it

TORTURED BY MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM

An ounce of help is worth a ton of pity. It was to this woman. Many friends pitied her. But one gave her a word of advice. After that word of advice she was no longer an object of pity.

She writes:—"I suffered with muscular rheumatism in the neck—it was torture. I spent quite a large sum of money in trying certain treatments and medicines, but could get no relief. I could not turn my head round when I wanted to—I had to turn my body as well. My friends all pitied me. Then one advised me to try Kruschen Salts, which I did. And in six months I was a different woman. Now if I feel the least twinge of rheumatism, I take a dose of wonderful Kruschen Salts, and it vanishes. I shall never fail to recommend Kruschen after what I have suffered."—Mrs. S.

Kruschen is a powerful solvent of the torturing crystals of uric acid. It swiftly dulls their sharp edges, then flushes them out of the system. Your pains ease; swellings subside, knotted joints become loose. Afterwards, the "little daily dose" of Kruschen so stimulates the liver and kidneys that regular and complete elimination is ensured. Your inside is kept clean. Mischievous uric acid never gets the chance to accumulate again.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS NOTED

E. S. H. Winn, K.C., Tells Credit Granters Conditions Now at Best Since Depression Began

During the past six weeks improvement in employment of labor and general business conditions has been more noticeable than since the beginning of the depression three years ago, E. S. H. Winn, K.C., chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board told members of the Credit Granters' Association of Victoria, yesterday, while reviewing the operations of the board. Mr. Winn dealt with the history of the body, and gave a detailed explanation of the work which it carries on.

Since January, 1917, to December, 1932, 407,554 claims had been handled by the board, Mr. Winn stated, and during this time $43,138,953 had been paid out.

Reference was made to the necessity for immediate reports on injured workmen. Such action, Mr. Winn said, aided the case greatly, but when considerable time lapsed in the filing of the report, it often caused complications. The establishing of the compensation board, he continued, had lifted compensation matters from the jurisdiction of employers, and had stopped many cases where friction arose between employee and employer over compensation awarded.

ASSESSMENT DETERMINED

The manner in which the board determines the assessment for various industries was fully sketched, Mr. Winn explaining that industries were divided into various groups to determine the rate of risk. The cost of accidents in each group regulated the rate of collections by the board, he said, and the groups were so divided as to have each class paying its own injury costs.

Mr. Winn referred to the difficulties arising from lack of understanding when claims were being made. The Workmen's Compensation Act was specific, he pointed out, and many claimants were not aware of its limitations. He urged employers to offer every assistance to an injured man, but to not criticize the board unfairly.

A similar party will journey to Banff from Calgary and it is expected that some 170 persons will take part in the meeting there. Special rates have been arranged for the occasion.

GORGE BRIDGE IS MUNICIPAL

B.C. Government Reserved on Attitude Towards Replacement of Structure

Decision by the Provincial Government of what its stand will be in regard to suggestions that it contribute to the cost of replacing the Gorge Bridge as a traffic structure may have to await the return of Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, it was intimated yesterday by Premier Tolmie.

Less than a week ago the Government opened the new Craigflower Bridge in the same area, the work being undertaken solely at the expense of the Province. Government spokesmen declined to say what course may be followed, until opportunity has been given for the review of the facts by the responsible officials concerned.

At the present time the Gorge Bridge is fully under the control of Esquimalt and Saanich combined, lying half in each area. The road connecting the two shores would have to be declared arterial before direct Provincial responsibility would occur for its upkeep, it was being said in some quarters. Consideration of the whole question has been promised.

Three Baseball Players Fined And Suspended

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP).—President William Herridge, of the American League, today suspended Ben Chapman, Yankee outfielder, and Earl Whitehill and Buddy Myers, of Washington Senators, for five days as a result of the fracas between the two ball clubs in Washington on Tuesday. All three also were fined $100 each. The suspensions revert back to Tuesday and will end next Monday.

INVESTIGATION IS COMPLETED

Theory of Kidnapping and Murder in Ashley Case Believed Dispelled

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP).—Police investigation into the case of Stewart Ashley, nineteen-year-old Vancouver school teacher, who disappeared here, on April 13, and whose body was found in Victoria, on April 23, has been closed, according to an announcement at headquarters today.

The finding of the investigators is not being disclosed, but Chief John Cameron declared that all evidence in police hands will be presented at the resumed session of the inquest, which will be held in Victoria, next Thursday.

It is understood, however, that there is nothing to support the kidnapping and murder theory.

Chief Cameron states that much of the evidence will be of a scientific nature. It was unearthed by Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, of the Bureau of Criminal Science.

Inspector Vance expects to complete his analysis today in connection with the search for poison in the body of the youth. It is expected that this finding will not be disclosed until the inquest.

TERMS SET FOR THREE TRUSTEES

C.N.R. Chairman to Hold Office for Five Years, House Decides

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—Chairman of the board of trustees to manage the Canadian National Railways will hold office for five years. In the House of Commons today the Government accepted an Opposition amendment to the Railway Bill reducing the term from seven to five years.

At the same time it was stipulated the other two members of the board should be appointed for three and four-year terms, the stagger system being adopted to maintain continuity. Liberal members from the Maritimes sought to increase the board from three to five members to give the East and Far West representation, but were ruled out of order.

FLOOD OF AMENDMENTS

The Railway Bill was discussed today for the fifteenth time this session. An hour or more was devoted to passing a few sub-clauses. Once again there was a flood of amendments from the Liberals. Hon. J. C. Elliott, former Minister of Public Works, had one voted down requiring trustees to be full-time men and to hold no outside company directorates.

A Government amendment was placed in its stead, to give the Cabinet power to designate how much of his time a trustee should devote to the National Railways. It has been intimated for the first two or three years the Government will demand full-time service from all the trustees and from the chairman, of course for the whole of his term.

CUT THROUGH ICE JAM

QUESNEL, April 28. — Reports from Cottonwood state that a channel has been cut through the ice jam in the Cottonwood River and the water is slowly diminishing over the flooded area. No fears are now felt for the highway bridge below, and held-up motor traffic may be able to cross over by tonight. The Fraser River is still rising here.

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY

Whatever bargain, if any, Mr. R. B. Bennett has made during his trip to Washington, it may be hoped that he has not pledged the Dominion to immediate co-operation in the construction of the St. Lawrence deep-sea waterway. That project is a very live issue among some interests in the United States. It has been approved by a fourteen-to-two vote of the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The matter, however, is not finally disposed of by that committee. It will examine it anew, and in the light of information to be submitted by Senator Copeland, who believes the arguments to be advanced "will bar approval of the St. Lawrence Treaty even if Mr. Roosevelt approves of its passage."

The States opposed to the Treaty are New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, the Carolinas, Virginia, Florida, most of the Gulf States, a majority of the Pacific Coast and Mississippi Valley States and all of New England. That list is imposing enough to prevent a two-thirds majority of the Senate ratifying the treaty. The main feature of the opposition to the project is that the cost is unknown. The estimates have varied from $300,000,000 to $700,000,000. The estimated cost of the Welland Canal was $40,000,000; the actual cost was $120,000,000. The Panama Canal was estimated to cost $150,000,000; it cost $375,000,000. It is obvious that the St. Lawrence seaway will far exceed in cost any original estimate. Even if that outlay was kept within the bounds intended, it would be a waste of the taxpayers' money. From the standpoint of power development its appeal, both on the Canadian and American sides, is losing its potency. There is ample hydro-electric energy available from other sources for many decades to come. At present, too, both Canada and the United States have railway problems and these are all contingent on the heavy losses in revenue. Sanity in outlook is hardly going to decree a lavish expenditure which could only have the effect of making the railways concerned suffer even greater losses than they are experiencing at present.

INFLATION

It may be doubted if Mr. J. S. Woodsworth, the leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, has studied currency questions to any extent. He is now strenuously advocating inflation which he believes would be a cure for depression. He wants the banks taken out of the hands of bankers and put under the aegis of politicians. He wants fiat money issued; in other words, the printing presses set to work to turn out pieces of paper reputed to be money. In effect, he wants Canada to launch herself on the tobbogan of inflation, irrespective of the fact of whether, as in Germany, during a similar process, money tokens become practically worthless.

It has been common knowledge through many centuries that the effects of inflation are ruinous. Aristophanes was the first writer who noticed the fact that where good money and bad money are thrown into circulation together the bad money drives out the good money. He seems to have thought that the preference which his fellow citizens gave to light coins was to be attributed to a depraved taste, such as led them to entrust men like Cleon and Hyperbolus with the conduct of great affairs. In the reign of William III in Britain a period of inflation ensued. There were hammered coins and milled coins current together. The politicians thought that the new money would soon displace the old money. It happened, however, as it always happens, that the perfect coin did not drive the light coin out of circulation, but was itself driven out. The inferior pieces remained in the only market where they would fetch the same price as the superior pieces. The latter passed on to a place where some advantage could be derived from their superiority. In relating the experiences through which the country passed, Lord Macaulay, in his History of England, wrote:

"The evil proceeded with constantly accelerated rapidity. At length, in the Summer of 1695, it could hardly be said that the country possessed, for practical purposes, any measure of the value of commodities. It was a mere chance whether what was called a shilling was really tenpence, sixpence, or a groat . . . The evils produced by this state of the currency were not such as have generally been thought worthy to occupy a prominent place in history. Yet it may well be doubted whether all the misery which had been inflicted on the English nation in a quarter of a century by bad Kings, bad ministers, bad Parliaments and bad judges, was equal to the misery caused in a single year by bad crowns and bad shillings . . . When the great instrument of exchange became thoroughly deranged, all trade, all industry, were smitten as with palsy. The evil was felt daily and hourly in almost every place and by almost every class, in the dairy and on the threshing floor, by the anvil and by the loom, on the billows of the ocean and in the depths of the mine. Nothing could be purchased without a dispute. Over every counter there was wrangling from morning to night. The workman and his employer had a quarrel as regular as the Saturday came round. On a fair day or a market day the clamors, the reproaches, the taunts, the curses, were incessant; and it was well if no booth was overturned and no head broken. No merchant could contract to deliver goods without making some stipulation about the quality of the coin in which he was to be paid. Even men of business were often bewildered by the confusion into which all pecuniary transactions were thrown. The simple and the careless were pillaged without mercy by extortioners whose demands grew more rapidly than the money shrank. The price of the necessaries of life, of shoes, of ale, of oatmeal, rose fast. The laborer found that the bit of metal which, when he received it was called a shilling, would hardly, when he wanted to purchase a pot of beer or a loaf of rye bread, go as far as sixpence."

It was through the restoration of her currency and the abandonment of inflation that England embarked on a long series of prosperous years. The task was achieved mainly by two politicians and two scientists—Somers and Montague, and Locke and Newton. There is no minute history of the collaboration which led to this happy event. They restored "sound money." The country which maintains such can survive any monetary crisis. Wherever, on the other hand, inflation is adopted, it brings countless evils in its train. All history is a record of this. That is why the experiments of Mr. J. S. Woodsworth are not wanted in Canada.

LOWER INTEREST RATES

The purpose in view in the lowering of interest rates on savings deposits, which becomes effective on May 1, is to make Dominion Government loans more attractive. Interest on bank savings deposits are being reduced from 3 to 2 1-2 per cent and on trust company deposits from 4 to 3 1-2 per cent. There is an approximate sum of $1,400,000,000 in savings deposits in the chartered banks. Thus a saving of some millions in interest payments will be made. One effect of this is expected to be greater scope for commercial and industrial borrowers.

Hereafter, Government bonds, if only bearing 3 or 3 1-2 per cent, are expected to be more popular. They will rise in value with a fall in their yield to the investor. This was illustrated by the manner in which the City of Montreal $7,000,000 issue was subscribed despite inflation in the United States which tended to upset bond issues. The object of the reduced rates of interest is to accustom the public to them. It is felt that in the long run this will make financing of all sorts easier. What is being done is in line with findings reached at the late Imperial Economic Conference, and is a prelude to decisions likely to be made effective when the World Economic Conference is held. If what is being done in this country will have its effect in stimulating business, it will prove an asset in recovery from economic depression.

A DANGEROUS BEND

The Department of Public Works has done so much good road work in recent years that it seems difficult to believe that it should be responsible for the so-called improvement at Little's Bend, on the East Saanich Road, shortly before Elk Lake is reached. At that bend, on the left-hand side, a thick bed of gravel has been laid, as yet in a loose state, and on one side of this, at what is approximately the centre of the roadway, the gravel is raised over a foot in height, thus creating perils to traffic. Already there has been one accident. There will undoubtedly be others unless the present defect is remedied. The existing condition is an invitation to accident. The roadway has been widened, which is desirable at this bend; instead, however, of providing for greater safety it has become a menace. As on other bends on the Saanich roads, the practice should be followed at Little's Bend of making the roadway safer. The embankment of loose gravel should be levelled off and the surface hardened by rolling and oiling.

Technocracy is described by Lord Weir as a counsel of despair. "Nothing," he says, "will ever induce him to accept a philosophy which placed any restrictions on our constant endeavor to do something better than it had ever been done before."

EARLY MORNING

I wander afield in the morning,
The city's harsh din fades behind,
I gaze on the jewels adorning
The leaves, undisturbed by the wind.

I list to the larks as they carry
On high their sweet message of mirth,
I look at the sunbeams that marry
The heaven to the brightening earth.

And joyfully, youthfully springing,
A tide wells within, fresh and strong;
And, with never a thought about singing,
Lo! out of my heart pours a song.

—Anna Wastberg.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Philosophy consists not
In airy schemes, or idle speculations
The rule and conduct of all social life
Is her great province. Not in lonely cells
Obscure she lurks, but holds her heavenly light
To senates and to kings, to guide their counsels,
And teach them to reform and bless mankind.

—Thomson.

When Mr. Ramsay MacDonald begins one of his many excellent speeches, which we always read or listen to, there invariably enters a doubt in our mind as to whether the speech is not going to turn out a sermon. The British Prime Minister appears to have borrowed his philosophy in part from that of Robert Burns, who admitted once when starting to write something that he did not know whether it would turn out to be a song or a sermon. But of course as a student of the philosophy of Burns Mr. MacDonald draws a very definite line of demarkation. It would never do for a man in the position of the Prime Minister of England to follow the example of the Scottish national poet in all things.

Whatever he may have been in the past—say, in the days when he was the leader of a Socialist government—Mr. MacDonald today is the personification of political and social propriety. If at one time the Prime Minister "went a kennin' wrang," he is today a model of political rectitude. If he sometimes appears to us to be more of an idealist than a practical man of affairs, that is because, like Burns, he loves and has an abiding faith in his fellowmen; because his love and faith are so abounding that he has chosen a very difficult (and we trust not a hazardous) task—that of uniting the whole world in bonds of a common brotherhood.

In his address to the Pilgrims of New York the Prime Minister addressed himself definitely to this task. In that address Mr. MacDonald declared that he had little faith in written articles of international associations; that pacts are sometimes like pie crust, generally made to be broken; that the only enduring bonds of friendship must be based upon goodwill and maintained upon good faith. The distinguished orator also made a rather startling and altogether unexpected statement. He cited the case of the League of Nations as an example of the folly of placing faith in world tribunals. He also declared in words which sounded somewhat like the text to a sermon that if Great Britain and the United States should elect to stand together no combination in the world need make them afraid.

A few days ago we saw something in a British newspaper which indicated the amount to time the Prime Minister has allotted to the job of political evangelization. That statement was that within a specified period of time Mr. MacDonald had spent about sixty days visiting foreign capitals, exhorting courts of limited international jurisdiction and arguing and attempting to reason with foreign potentates and statesmen. This statement was not made in the spirit of criticism, although the inference might be drawn from it that the Prime Minister who was selected to be first in charge of the affairs of Great Britain appeared to be more interested in setting the world in order than in attending to things which were primarily his business.

But if the ministers and potentates of the world will not come to Mr. MacDonald for the purpose of discussing his chosen mission as a political evangelist at large, he must go to them. The President of the United States could not go to the British Prime Minister, for there is a law which has been written into the constitution that during his term of office the foot of a President shall never be lifted upon foreign soil. This law was of course broken by the late President Wilson, but that does not appear to have established a precedent. That is why the Prime Minister came across the ocean and paid his respects to the President.

Although Mr. MacDonald admits that nothing of a very definite nature was accomplished as a result of the fraternal visit and the exchange of formal courtesies, he indicated that some impedimental rubbish had been cleared away, that some misunderstandings and misapprehensions had been removed, and that as a consequence the world might look forward with new hope and confidence to the dawn of a brighter and better day; that what the Washington Conference and conversations had failed to do might be done at a pending international economic conference.

In the meantime, while hoping for the best regarding a highly complicated and difficult situation, we observe that there are British statesmen staying at home and attending strictly to their own business. One important treaty of trade and commerce has been completed with a foreign nation and others are being negotiated. The Prime Minister of Canada is at Washington discussing the possibility of more liberal and profitable trade relations between this country and the United States. This mission has been taken on the invitation of the President in the expressed belief that mutual concessions would prove beneficial in their effects; but there is a well-known aphorism that there is a difference between anticipation and realization. There is also an established truth that the will of a President often encounters opposition in Congress. A politician destitute of vision generally insists upon grabbing the big end of the stick.

CIVIC RELIEF

Sir,—I have read the very interesting letter of April 27 from the Trades and Labor Council. There are always two or more sides to every question. As regards a man receiving two or more cheques, or a married woman whose husband is in a reall "fat" job, working for extra money, seems to me to conform to the religion of the Trades and Labor Council, as from reports they favor people getting all they can regardless of those who have to pay, and in a lot of cases, quite unable to do so under present conditions.

Re grass cutters or lawn mower pushers, I would like to state my own case. I am unfortunately placed in the position that I cannot meet the ever-increasing taxation, and like a host of property owners, principally through the exhorbitant taxation, I have to cut down even on essentials. I pay $7.50 a year for the care and attention given to a strip of grass, or rather a dandelion bed in front of my home, so when I see the city equalizing the money over a body of unfortunate men, I feel like shouting "hurrah" and telling that body that at last a spark of Christianity has come into their hearts. It is not only keeping some unfortunate man but materially helping me to meet the tax bill. To own a few dollars without some pressing outlet for the same makes one feel like a Rothschild.

BOMB IN BARBER'S HOUSE KILLS THREE

RAVENNA, O., April 28 (AP).—Three persons were killed and six injured, none critically, yesterday when a bomb exploded in the home of Edward Rock, a barber. The dead are: Mrs. Rock, twenty-nine; Silad Eldrice, seventy, and Sylvester Barnes, eighty, father of Mrs. Rock.

Officers investigating ascribed the bombing to persons who had a grudge against Rock.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the new Esquimalt drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

"Go after business" has the sound of a good slogan until you remember where business has gone.

'Slams and Salaams'

By H. T. M.

Who, what, and where is "Brother XII?" Why was he nowhere to be found on Wednesday and Thursday, while his shaggy and defrauded "Brothers" unwove tales of misery and magic through their stupendous beards, in the Nanaimo Courthouse? Some suspected he was aboard his converted yacht, the Lady Royal—all ready to "up-anchor and away," should necessity compel—but nobody really knew whether he was floating in mid-air, between Isis and Osiris, or possibly hanging black cats on the Signs of the Zodiac. Anyway, "Brother 12" was "not at home" to nibble the "savouries" that were being piled high onto judicial platters, by his injured and disillusioned "disciples."

As witness after witness, (male and female), bobbed in and out of the witness-box, it became more and more difficult for a "non-brother" to realise that he was actually sitting and listening, in a courtroom. Whiskers and magic were so thick, that one felt the room gradually changing into some uncanny grotto, wherein gnomes, leprechauns and witches seemed to be conniving, each to outdo the other, in tales of sorcery and fantasy. What manner of man can this "Brother 12" be? How had he hypnotised them all? Undoubtedly, he had once clutched them in a spell that would have driven a necromancer of the Middle Ages into eating the very pot in which he brewed his devilries, with sheer envy.

Each witness, (and they hailed from all four corners of the Globe), had been initially "hooked" by the writings of the great "Brother." These apparently painted a picture of "Brotherly Love" and a sort of earthly paradise, (close to Nanaimo, Ha!), which was not to be denied at any price. In fact the "green-fees" seemed to range anywhere from twelve to fifty thousand, in good old coin of the realm. Mrs. Mary Connally (the sort of "queen bee" of the case) was the first to put a sting into De Valdes' celestial anatomy, and buzzed out a tale of woe and disillusionment that kept her in the witness-box, for three mysterious hours. She was a composed little woman. Her self-assurance was delicious.

She had everything at her fingertips, and from time to time, employed these finger-tips on which to tick off (by one, by two, by three, and up to about five thousand), the various set-backs and discomforts she had suffered since falling into the ethereal web of the much-more-ethereal "Elder Brother." She said that she looked upon Wilson B 12) as her contractor and Architect. With her money, Wilson had apparently purchased most of Canada, but it soon became evident that although Mrs. Conally thus owned such a lot of this Continent—nevertheless, she was not allowed to put even one toe on her own property. Under these conditions, the savour of "Brotherly Love" seemed to be ...ting a trifle too pungent for trust ing nostrils, and Mrs. Conally began to get suspicious. And later, when certain buildings, ("Greystones," etc.), that her trusted "architect" had vowed would rise on Valdez and De Courcy to shine as very beacons of chastity mid the stacks and pitheads of Nanaimo and District—well, when hardly a hen-coop towered to vaunt the glories of Cedar-by-the-Sea, Mrs. Conally sensed she had been foozled, and that "Brother 12" was not only a "horse of a doubtful feather" but a chiseler of the deepest dye, to boot.

The hardships she suffered were really cruel. Among other things, she had practically to disc and harrow three acres, before breakfast; sow them by lunch; and then reap, and probably eat the crop, as the only means of getting her dinner. That she was an abused and much-maligned woman was very evident. "Brother 12" had spoofed her from the start, and showed no quarter. She won her case of course, but whether she'll collect or not is a different, and very doubtful story.

In corroboration of everything Mary Conally had stated, other witnesses rose in their disillusioned dignity, to unfold more tales of magic, cruelty, and blasphemy. They'd all been hoaxed, and looked it. Everybody emphasized the power and length at which the sanctimonious "Elder Brother" could blaspheme. This seemed his pet hobby, and he would rant and swear at his dear "Brothers," by the hour. "Why did you stand for this?" the Court enquired. "Because we were helpless, and in a way, we still believed in him," the addicts to "Brotherly Love" replied. "And you still believe?" furthered the Court. "Yes," they admitted, "but not under Wilson. We've broken with him, and are going to continue our Colony, under different leadership."

There was a great deal of chatter and mystery about "Zura." This favoured person was referred to as Wilson's eyes, ears, mouth, and probably throat and nose—a sort of specialist, in fact. Her language was apparently as strong and versatile as Wilson's, and her orders were a lot stronger. She had all the "boys" and "girls" buffaloed, and if there was any rough stuff in the offing, Zura was the girl to do it. Witnesses revealed how Wilson had had fortresses built on the Islands. These were guarded by armed men, who were instructed to look out for Government Officials, of whom Wilson seemed slightly apprehensive. He told one witness to dynamite a tree across the "Hole in the Wall" (a shallow passage between de Courcy and Link Island), to prevent navigation. Witness said he obeyed this ridiculous order, but only blew some fresh mud into the sea, while the tree still stood, or stood still, as the case may be. On this occasion, the fury of "Brother 12" was supreme, and it seemed that his flow of language continued hot and heavy for half an hour, and that on running out of words, he just stood in the middle of a clearing, waving his arms and simmering with rage.

All witnesses testified strongly that Wilson had intimated to each of them that Mary Conally owned too much of the property on which this extraordinary Colony was supposed to flourish, and that somehow or other, Mary Conally must be kept out of the way, as much as possible. This was done, by making her live in state of perpetual motion—that's to say, no sooner had she placed her goods and chattels in one house or another, when strange orders would come that she'd have to immediately "up-anchor," and go and deposit herself somewhere else. This sort of thing eventually got on everybody's nerves to the extent that they unanimously decided that the "Brotherly Love" business was just so much tripe, and that the real keynote to the situation was "hell on earth." Consequently they rebelled and broke from the spells of the "Elder Brother," and now intend dabbling in a little witchcraft and "what have you," all on their own. And they seem quite happy—and have yet great faith in a Utopian existence at Cedar-by-the-Sea, or on the Islands. Whether they succeed or not, seems to be nobody's business but their own. If sprouting fine crops of whiskers means anything at all, then these strange people are going to live in a state of hairy happiness that only certain of our friends from the jungle could ever hope to share.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

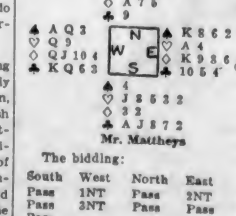

By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THE PROBLEM OF PROPER DEFENCE

Proper defence is the hardest part of contract bridge. When it follows stereotyped lines it can be carried out by many players, but when an unusual play is required, very few players can rise to the emergency and produce the proper solution of a difficult problem.

The following hand is an example of a play of this type, which, while apparently simple, was made by only one or two players in the duplicate tournament in which the hand occurred. Mr. John P. Mattheys was one of these players.

South, Dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

Mr. Mattheys

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1NT	Pass	2NT
Pass	3NT	Pass	Pass
Pass

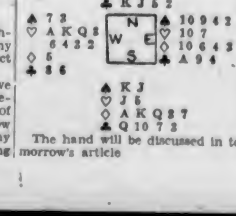

The bidding was probably technically inaccurate, but under any method the same final contract would have been reached.

The opening lead was the knave of spades, which was won by declarer with the ace. The queen of diamonds was led, followed by a low diamond, which was won in dummy with the eight-spot, North holding off his ace twice. At this point declarer could have made certain of his contract by continuing the diamond lead, but, feeling that the hand demanded the establishment of the second suit, he now led the four of clubs. It was at this point that Mr. Mattheys grasped his only chance of settling the contract. Knowing that his partner must have had some reason for retaining the ace of diamonds (if he had it) he won the trick with the ace of clubs and immediately shifted to the three of hearts. On this card West played the queen, North the king, and declarer decided to hold off once in dummy. This made no difference, however, as two more clubs and two more spades were the only tricks available. North's retention of the high diamond gave him the necessary entry and the hand was set one trick, due to Mr. Mattheys' appreciation of an unusual situation.

TOMORROW'S HAND

If you held the West hand below, how would you attempt to rebid it in order to tempt a double of a contract you could make?

North, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article

Immigration Aid—A dispatch to the local Legislature, now in session, states that the Dominion Government will assist European immigrants to reach the Coast by contributing ten dollars per head to help defray passage expense. An immigration station will be established here and the duties of the officials will be to receive and settle the immigrants. Pamphlets descriptive of the Province will be circulated in several different European languages and distributed free by the Dominion Government.

Coal Discovery—David Ker has brought to town several specimens of bituminous coal, which were taken from a two-foot seam on James Bryden's farm, at North Saanich. The coal is of excellent quality and official Government testers pronounced it to be perfect.

Heavy Freight Shipment—The C.P.F. Company's wharf was the scene of great activity yesterday. Throughout the morning, drays were engaged in hauling goods for direct shipment to Yale, and express wagons were loaded down with smaller baggage and freight. More than 300 tons of freight were shipped for Yale.

Rumor Denied—A persistent rumor that Wrangell would be closed as a port of entry was denied in official circles yesterday.

Naval Staff Chief Inspected Corps of Rainbow Sea Cadets

Commodore Walter Hose Warmly Praised All Ratings of Local Organization Upon Their Smart Appearance in March Past

Presenting a remarkably smart appearance, the Rainbow Sea Cadets elicited warm praise from Commodore Walter Hose, C.M.G., when the corps paraded at its drill hall last evening and went through a number of marching evolutions for the chief of the Canadian naval staff.

Commodore Hose was accompanied by Commander V. G. Brodeur, R.C.N., in charge at Esquimalt. Taking up his station on the roadside near the cadet headquarters, the naval officer viewed the cadets in marching formations and took the salute in the march past as the bugle and drum band played spirited selections.

Completing the inspection, Commodore Hose addressed the corps briefly, at the same time impressing upon the cadets the value of the training they were receiving at the hands of their instructors. It would all be of great assistance to them as they grew into manhood. He complimented the boys on their smart appearance, their bearing in the march, and recalled that the most satisfactory years of his life were spent aboard H.M.C.S. Rainbow, the ship they were perpetuating as a cadet corps.

BATTLESHIP STATUS

Following the review, the commodore was introduced to a number of the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Navy League, and the instructors who are giving their time and knowledge for the benefit of the young lads who make up the corps, which turned out eighty-six strong for the inspection. The Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps now numbers 101, and has attained battleship status.

Accompanied by Lieut.-Commander P. W. Tribe and members of the Navy League executive present, Commodore Hose was shown over the cadet quarters and complimented all interested on the completeness of the equipment.

Present at the inspection were: Commodore F. A. Lindsay, president of the Victoria and Island division of the Navy League of Canada; N. Van der Vliet, honorary secretary; Commander Slingsby, P. E. George, Captain W. Brown, Captain Kirkendale and Captain Philipsen.

In charge of the cadets were Lieut.-Commander Tribe, Lieut. Henry, W. O. Findley, A. W. O. Clarke, C. P. O. Hardy, R.C.N., general instructor, and Bugler Drysdale, in charge of the bugle band.

AMBITIOUS PROGRAMME

Adventurer Proposes to Preach Good Will to the World

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 28 (CP). — The man who piloted a boat around the world alone has got the urge to be on the move again and so has found another job.

Captain Edward Miles, the skipper and crew of the one-man boat, Sturdy, has become organizer and president of Captain Edward Miles, International Brotherhood, Inc., and for that high-sounding title he gets the whole of $1.00 a year. The wages may not seem attractive, but then he is not looking for wages.

It's an ambitious name, but no more so than Captain Miles' programme—preventing war, improving international relations and bettering understanding among peoples of all creeds, nations, societies and colors.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP

Miles isn't sure how he will go about accomplishing all these aims, but he is going to start out by lecturing in all parts of the United States in advocacy of brotherly love and good fellowship. He expects, he says, other organizations to take up the work.

The "Cap'n" and four other Memphians have received a charter for the new organization and will undertake to raise funds for the enterprise. Miles said he had it all in mind when he was sailing strange seas and talking with natives of many a faraway port.

URGE LOYALTY

"We do not anticipate ideal conditions or look for an Utopia," he said, and then revealed that the brotherhood also would urge loyalty of citizens to their respective governments. He may extend his lectures to another tour around the world, by passenger steamer and railroad, spreading more good will among the people he met on his first trip, he said.

The skipper returned to the United States on June 17, 1932, after having circumnavigated the globe. He was the first person ever to make the voyage alone going in an easterly direction. The trip took six and a half years, including time lost when he was forced to build a second Sturdy after his first boat burned in the Red Sea.

FREIGHT TRAIN HIT MUD SLIDE AND LEFT TRACK—NOBODY HURT

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP).—A westbound freight train of the Canadian National Railways struck a mud slide twenty miles east of Blue River. North Thompson section, derailing the locomotive and five cars, including two oil tanks, early this morning.

Following the accident the oil tanks took fire, destroying five of the cars before the blaze could be brought under control by the train crew. No one was injured in the crash.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP). — The Donaldson Line freighter Moveria has arrived to Balfour, Guthrie & Company to land a parcel of United Kingdom cargo and load a large consignment of grain, metal and canned goods for the Old Country market.

Salmon Are Running

TOFINO, April 28. — An exceptionally good run of Spring salmon has been experienced at all points along the West Coast for the last two weeks, the continued fine weather permitting trolling every day for that period and tonnage so far is more than double that for the same period last year. Quatsino, Kyuquot, Tofino and Ucluelet have all enjoyed the big run. The average price netted by the fishermen has been from six to eight cents per pound for their fish landed on the fish-buying floats. Practically the entire West Coast catch is marketed at Seattle, a small quantity going to Vancouver.

Applause in one form or another is probably almost as old as civilization.

Annual Gathering Of Yachtsmen to Be Held Tonight

THE annual meeting of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will be held in the clubrooms, Cadboro Bay, tonight, it was stated last evening by Acting-Secretary H. A. Tomalin. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected at this meeting. Out of respect to the late Major W. W. Rowson, the annual meeting was postponed. Commodore F. A. Lindsay, who recently returned from Europe, will preside at the meeting, which will start at 8:30 o'clock.

River Gunboat Provides Jig-Saw Puzzle for Two Naval Experts

A brand new British gunboat, H.M.S. Sandpiper, recently completed in England for the British river forces in the Far East, was dumped, not launched, into China when 440 packages were hauled out of the roomy holds of the P. & O. boat Ss. Chitral, and lowered into lighters alongside, states The China Press. The new gunboat, built by Thorneycroft, was shipped to Shanghai knocked down. It was thought that she would be unable to make the voyage successfully by herself, because of her small size.

Packed in 440 cases, the Sandpiper, unassembled weighs 360 tons. Including her engines, she was brought over complete, down to the last bolt, and the thousands of pieces which will compose her vitals range from a six-ton boiler to a ten-penny nail.

TO BE REBUILT

Before the gunboat was crated in England, she was bolted together for a last inspection. Now two experts, sent over especially to do the work, will have the difficult task of putting the Sandpiper back together again. Although the little vessel is particularly adapted to being transported in small sections, her rebuilding will mean her complete assembly.

The two Britons who will play the 360-ton jig-saw puzzle are Commander E. Reed, R.N., and N. G. Bolt, of the Royal Corps of Naval Contractors. They have been appointed to duty at Shanghai as engineer overseer and principal ship overseer, respectively.

The ship will be assembled in Kiangnan Dock, and after Messrs. Reed and Holt solve their puzzle, the Sandpiper will be commissioned and allotted a crew of thirty-five men. She was built for and will be assigned to river duty.

LACKING IN FREIGHTERS

United States Merchant Marine Has Fewer Than Other Maritime Nations

A bulletin issued by the National Council of American Shipbuilders for the information of its members, points out that the United States is far behind the other maritime nations in the number of modern freighters in its merchant marine, although the bulk of its merchant fleet consists of freighters. While nine freighters of 2,000 gross tons or over have been built for operation under the American flag in the last ten years, it is noted that these do not include a single general cargo carrier for overseas trade.

The number of seagoing freighters of 2,000 gross tons or over built for the principal maritime nations since January 1, 1923, is shown as follows: United States, nine; Great Britain, 913; Germany, 140; Japan, seventy-nine; France, fifty-seven; Italy, thirty-nine. Since November 1, 1932, it is added, orders have been reported placed abroad for forty cargo vessels, including twenty-six for British owners, twelve for Japanese owners and two for French owners.

"Modern tonnage," the bulletin states, "is designed for higher speeds than war-built tonnage and it is not surprising to discover that whereas the United States merchant fleet includes fifty-eight seagoing freighters which operate at speeds of over twelve knots, the British merchant fleet includes 428 such vessels; and while there are only eighteen American-flag freighters which exceed fourteen knots in speed, the British own ninety-three such vessels. While the British have two speed freighters whose normal speed exceeds sixteen knots and the Japanese have seven such vessels, the United States has none."

FLEET COMPOSITION

In reference to the composition of the American merchant fleet, the bulletin says: "Out of 281 American vessels of 1,000 gross tons or more engaged in our overseas foreign trade on January 1, 1932, no less than 210 were freighters. Including vessels engaged in our nearby, foreign, coastal and non-contiguous services, out of 1,020 vessels of 1,000 gross tons or over, 576 were freighters; and including laid-up vessels, out of the total American seagoing fleet of 1,716 vessels, each of 1,000 gross tons or more, 1,118 are freighters."

In conclusion the bulletin states: "The National Council believes that notwithstanding the fact that our foreign trade services are essentially liner services, that a considerable number of vessels of the purely cargo type are essential to the upbuilding of our merchant marine and to hold our place in competition with foreign modern vessels of the purely cargo type."

FINAL VICTORY FOR HITLERITES

Seldte Turns Over Command of Steel Helmeters to German Chancellor

BERLIN, April 28 (AP).—Franz Seldte last night turned over the command of the Steel Helmet War Veterans' organization to Chancellor Adolf Hitler, thereby giving the Hitlerites a final victory over their Steel Helmet rivals.

Less expected but no less sensational was Herr Seldte's announcement that he had joined Hitler's Nazi party and had given up his affiliation with the Nationalists. The change was another step towards making the Cabinet 100 per cent Nazi.

Seldte, Labor Minister, said he saw in the Nazi chieftain "a leader of the German future," and therefore fused the Steel Helmeters with the Nazis. He appealed to others of the 1,500,000 Steel Helmeters to confess their faith in the Chancellor.

SECRET STATE POLICE

Meantime, Hermann Goering, Cabinet Minister without portfolio and Premier of Prussia, tonight announced the formation of a "secret state police" department in the state.

The department will be under the command of Captain Goering and will be charged with combatting Bolshevism and other subversive forces.

Thus the Soviet Ogpu will have a counterpart in Prussia.

Hired Electrician Connected Wires To Wrong Circuit

In the city police court yesterday morning, V. M. Clarke, View Street, was charged with altering or tampering with wires leading to a meter in such a manner as to cause it to register unjustly, contrary to the Electricity Inspection Act.

The evidence of the complainant showed that the accused had instructed an electrician to do some wiring at his premises and in connecting to the switch and meter had connected to a wire which would bypass the current from the meter. The accused said he had not told the electrician to avoid connecting to the meter.

Gordon A. Cameron, who appeared for the accused, stated that Mr. Clarke had been a victim of an error on the part of the electrician. The court, however, held that the accused had instructed the electrician to do the work and therefor he was responsible for the error on the part of the electrician. Mr. Clarke was fined $50, the minimum fine under the act. A. D. King and H. G. S. Heisterman appeared for the prosecution.

EXPRESS SYMPATHY

Members of the Saanich Council on Thursday passed a resolution of sympathy to Frank Pagett, of The Times editorial staff, who is ill in the Jubilee Hospital. The councillors expressed the hope that he would have a speedy recovery.

Maybe—we dunno, of course—the assets wouldn't have frozen quite so hard if there had been less water in them to start with.

REFERENDUM VOTE TODAY

Reeve and Esquimalt Council Urge Passing of Money By-Law at Polls

Failure of Esquimalt ratepayers to pass the $30,000 money by-law today will result in a 60 per cent increase of taxes for at least the next year, and will have the ultimate result of sending the municipality into the hands of a Provincial Government commissioner, Reeve Albert Heald and members of the municipal council last night informed a public meeting at the municipal hall, in urging upon the residents the immediate necessary for sanctioning the loan.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. The municipal hall and the store at the corner of Arm Street and Craigflower Road will serve as polling stations, and J. R. Collister is returning officer.

The Reeve explained that the condition necessitating the loan had been brought about by abnormal times throughout the world and the reduction in taxable assessments. In 1923, the assessment on land and improvements in Esquimalt was $3,499,836, while this figure in 1932 was $2,688,888, this decrease requiring an increase in the tax levy to increase the revenue by $19,058. He referred to the non-revenue producing lands in the municipality owned by the Federal Government, and used for military and naval purposes as being a cause for the loan. The value of the mill has decreased from more than $3,900 in 1923, to slightly more than $2,600, in 1932, he stated.

The large increase of the deficit of 1932 over that of 1931, the Reeve attributed to reduction of Government grants, low tax collections and the imposition of social service charges. In its last year's budget, the council was called upon to meet extra charges totaling $16,953.

SCHOOL BOARD COSTS

Another factor which had been responsible for the deficit, was the finding of 100 per cent of the charges budgeted by the school board. Last year, he explained, these collections had only been 67 per cent, and the remainder had to be borrowed from the bank.

Meeting these additional burdens, and making every effort to keep taxes low, had forced the council to forego road repairs and other public works, stated the Reeve. Illustrating this, he said that $26,000 had been spent on public works in 1923, while the amount appropriated for this work last year was cut to $12,000. It was realized that roads and sidewalks were in a state of disrepair, but the council had been forced to cut this work.

SCHOOL BUDGET DOWN

Efforts had been made to also reduce school costs, he continued, by salary cuts and other reductions. The school budget this year was the lowest it had been for several years. Slightly more than one-half of the tax levy was devoted to school costs, the speaker said.

Steps had also been taken during the last two years to have the Federal Government make a grant to the municipality in compensation for the non-revenue producing lands, and this issue was constantly being pressed, he declared.

If the by-law is not passed, a tax rate of 41 mills on land and on 50 per cent of improvements will result, which will mean a 60 per cent increase in taxes, the Reeve warned. A commissionership, he explained, would be no way of meeting the situation; quoting the condition in Burnaby, where the ratepayers are being called upon to meet exorbitantly high taxes.

TAXES NOT PAID

If taxes are paid by the Puget Sound Agricultural Association this year, it will not be necessary to market the bonds, the Reeve said, and for this reason, the sale would be withheld as long as possible.

The Reeve's stand was heartily endorsed by Councillor R. A. Anderson.

Councillor George Wise viewed the situation as one similar to that which might confront a business man, and urged every ratepayer to vote in favor of the loan.

Councillor Thomas Hadfield briefly reviewed conditions which had brought about the need for the loan. The situation was not the cause of any lack of attention by the Reeve and council, he said, because every municipal body had cooperated in every manner to pare down the 1932 and 1933 costs.

City and District

House Entered—A watch and a box containing valuable papers were stolen from the home of W. B. Lanigan, Cadboro Bay Road, some time Thursday night, Oak Bay police reported yesterday. Entrance to the home was gained through a sun room.

Arrest Is Made—Detective William Stark yesterday arrested Arthur Orlando Bennallack on a charge of being in possession of stolen goods. The accused will appear before Magistrate George Jay in the city police court this morning. The case emanates from the theft of some tools from an East Indian.

Given Further Remand — Gian Singh, Sundar Singh, Huedit Singh, Guedas Singh, Brema and Meha, East Indians, charged with wounding a fellow countryman, Nama, were given a further remand for one week when they appeared in the city police court yesterday morning. Nama is still in hospital recovering from injuries caused through a beating he received on the night of Tuesday, April 18. Stuart Henderson, with A. J. Patton, appeared as counsel for the accused, and C. L. Harrison is prosecuting.

Councillor A. T. Farley was of the opinion that for many years, Esquimalt had been "run with a millionaire's ideas and a coal heaver's income." He felt that the salary situation among the teachers and municipal staff needed ratification.

ENDORSES BY-LAW

Councillor Philip S. Going endorsed the by-law and warned that if it did not pass, taxes would be increased to such an extent that there would be a great many reversions to the municipality.

It would be a short-sighted policy of any ratepayer not to support the by-law in the opinion of Councillor Neil Fraser. A commissioner in the municipality could do no better than the present council had done.

COST OF LOAN

In reply to a query from H. Hodgson, Reeve Heald stated that the cost to the municipality to borrow the $30,000 would be approximately $4,357 a year to provide sinking fund and interest charges. The Reeve expected that the bonds could be sold at 6 per cent interest, and if not, believed that the bank would accept them as security.

Captain R. P. Matheson was the chairman.

Proposes Work for Saanich Unemployed

A proposal presented by A. V. Simpson to have the Saanich Council provide tools for unemployed men to cut timber from a tract of land in Ward Four, owned by Mr. Simpson, was tabled at a meeting on Thursday night.

Mr. Simpson explained that he recently purchased the land from Sir Frank Barnard, with the stipulation that the timber be cut by unemployed men. He believed the land to contain from 1,500 to 2,000 cords of first-class cordwood, and was prepared to pay the men $1.25 a cord for cutting.

He did not have sufficient tools to equip the men, and requested the council to loan him extra equipment for the work. He would be able to provide eight or ten men with work for more than six months, Mr. Simpson said.

More Motorists Fined by Court

The municipality of Oak Bay continues to reap a monetary harvest from automobile drivers who are so forgetful about their driving licences. In the police court yesterday afternoon ten motorists paid out $5 on the order of Police Magistrate George Jay for failing to produce licences for driving when asked to do so by police officers who scanned the highways over the last week-end.

In the last two drives the Oak Bay police netted a total of thirty drivers who contributed exactly $150 to the municipal treasury. The check-up will continue, police say.

Fine Programme Will Mark Closing of Home Products Fair Here

Tonight will be the final concert of the Home Products Fair series at the Armories. The arrangements for it indicate that it will not fall behind the other in quality. It will be a vaudeville evening, introducing a number of very special attractions.

Last evening's attendance at the Armories was excellent and the programme rendered by the Victoria Male Choir was of the very highest quality. With Frank L. Tupman conducting, the fifty singers contributed a well-selected programme.

The numbers given were: "Rise, Sleep No More," "Evening," "Feasting, I Watch," "Night March," "Comrades' Song of Hope," "Must I Then Part From Thee?" "Mighty Lak a Rose," "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground," "Scots, Wha Hae," "Men of Harlech," "Invictieus," and "The Pilot." Mrs. C. E. McNeill was the accompanist.

TONIGHT'S NUMBERS

This evening the programme will contain the following numbers: Acrobatic dancing by Mabel Wells, with C. F. Armistead providing the music; comedy skits by Ronald Smith and Cleaver Wilson; whistling melodies by Reginald Stofer; songs by Stanley James; banjo solo by Grace Attfield, in Italian costume; butterfly capilion dance by Grace Attfield; banjo tap dance by Grace Attfield, in Spanish costume; French dance (pas de quatre), by Muriel Marshall. This programme has been arranged by Harold Palmer, and will be in charge of C. F. Armistead, who will act as chairman.

During this afternoon, and again this evening, the 16th Canadian Scottish Band will give selections.

Hospital Sunday to Be Observed Tomorrow, When Activities of Jubilee Hospital, Founded in 1858, Will Be Reviewed

FOLLOWING up the successful inauguration last year of the observance of Hospital Sunday, the city churches will tomorrow again have their attention turned to the needs of Jubilee Hospital and the opportunities for service in connection with this beneficent institution. The custom of Hospital Sunday has been for a long time well established in the Old Land and prevailed here in the earlier days, but later lapsed until its restoration last April.

The second observance of Hospital Sunday under the new order falls on the diamond jubilee year of the hospital. Seventy-five years ago, in 1858, the late Bishop Cridge opened a humble house of healing in a cottage that was loaned him rent free. Such was the start of the magnificent buildings on upper Fort Street, which represent an investment of $1,000,000 and are free of debt. From the cottage of 1858 the next move was to a building erected on the Songhees Indian Reserve, which was known as the Royal Hospital. In 1869 the Victoria Female Infirmary was founded in a frame building which cost $4,000, and in 1869 the two institutions were amalgamated, the infirmary being known as the Royal Hospital thereafter until 1890.

NEW BUILDINGS OPENED

The present site was first used in 1890, the first building being a fifty-bed hospital which cost $50,000. The new East wing was opened free of debt in 1928 by the late Hon. John Oliver. Its total cost of $580,000 was largely met by bequests by the late J. B. Greaves and the late J. T. Hardaker. The present Nurses' Home was opened, also free of debt, by the late Mrs. (Dr.) Tolmie in February, 1930. The money was provided by grants from the Provincial Government and the City of Victoria, and funds made available from the estate of the late David Dolg.

WON HIGH RANKING

The cottage hospital of seventy-five years ago has expanded to the finely equipped institution of 330 beds, with X-ray and pathological departments, and all the high standards of efficiency which have won it the rank of an "approved hospital" from the American College of Surgeons. The whole equipment involves a yearly maintenance cost of $268,000. The staff is composed of twenty graduate nurses, 101 nurses-in-training, and 107 others, made up of maids, porters and members of the office and mechanical staffs.

The number of patients treated here during 1932 was 4,200. To visualize the immensity of the care and cost involved, the reader may imagine three-fifths of the population of Oak Bay, or 1,000 more than all the people in Esquimalt, as entering the hospital doors during a twelvemonth. On an average 216 beds are occupied with sick people. The T.B. pavilion cares for twenty patients, eighty per cent of whom must be dependent on public benevolence. In 1932 the services rendered patients who were personally unable to pay amounted to the large sum of about $120,000.

DOORS NEVER CLOSED

It is on such facts as these that the directors ground their appeal to the churches for their continued and enlarged sympathy in this humanitarian work. "The hospital doors," they state, "are never closed to the sick and broken in body." The hospital is a non-sectarian institution, managed by a board of some twenty citizens who give an immense amount of strenuous service, especially in these trying times. It is supported by the Government of British Columbia, Victoria City and adjacent municipalities and subscribers, and gifts from many friends and diligent auxiliaries. These auxiliaries would appreciate reinforcements for their benevolent work.

The board of directors comprises representatives of the Provincial Government, Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt Councils, subscribers, the French Benevolent Society and the Victoria Medical Society. The president is H. H. Shandley; vice-president, Ald. John A. Worthington; hon. treasurer, J. Vaughan Roberts; the other directors being as follows: Edwin Tomlin, Hugh R. Allan, Ald. P. R. Brown, H. G. Heistermen, James Forman, Ald. W. H. Kinsman, Reeve William Crouch, Councillor Thomas Hadfield, Charles Williams, S. J. Drake, Capt. George McGregor, D. E. Campbell, William Mable, Dr. Thomas Miller, Dr. E. W. Boak, Dr. Hermann Robertson. The superintendent is Dr. E. M. Pearse, the director of nursing is Miss A. F. Mitchell, and secretary, D. D. Muir.

Several of the directors have given an extended term of service. James Forman has served for twenty-five years, which was the length of time that the late Mrs. C. W. Rhodes was a member of the board. Capt. George McGregor is in his eighteenth consecutive year on the board, S. J. Drake and Charles Williams both in their thirteenth year, and J. Vaughan Roberts in the eleventh year. D. E. Campbell has been a member for eighteen years, though latterly not active on account of ill-health.

CITY TEMPLE HAS PAGEANT

"Triumph of Defeated" to Be Portrayed in Drama and Music

An Easter pageant, entitled "The Triumph of the Defeated," will be presented at the City Temple tomorrow evening. The pageant will tell the story of valiant souls who have been crushed by persecution but, remaining steadfast to their ideals, have brought to mankind a fuller life in religion, science, art and music, and a deeper appreciation for those of other races and creeds.

Interpretative music will include Schubert's "Erlkonig," Wagner's "Pilgrims' Chorus" from "Tannhauser," "Dance Macabre" (Saint Saens), "Death of Ase" (Greig), "List the Cherubic Host" (Gaul), "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and appropriate hymns. The presentation will be made by a large trained cast under the direction of Mrs. Maude Hammond.

At the morning devotional service Dr. Clem Davies will preach, his sermon subject being "Christ's Second Coming." These morning discourses are always upon a high plane of thought and are attracting increasing attention and appreciation.

Everlasting Punishment To Be Topic

"Everlasing Punishment" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Victoria, on Sunday. Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish." Psalms i, 6.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through the wholesome chastisements of Love, we are helped onward in the march towards righteousness, peace, and purity, which are the landmarks of Science"—(p. 323).

There will be solos at each of these meetings, in the morning by Mrs. Shaw and in the evening by Mrs. Herrin.

During the week Mr. Weston's topics will be as follows: Wednesday, at 8 p.m., "Vision"; Thursday, at 3 p.m., healing and devotional meeting; Friday, at 8 p.m., "Fundamentals of Truth." All interested persons are invited to attend these meetings.

ARABIA SCENES WILL BE SHOWN

Rev. J. Turnbull, F.R.G.S., to Lecture at Missionary Alliance Convention May 2-7

Thirty Arab soldiers were sent to shoot Mr. Turnbull on sight. How he escaped them, as well as a mob that gathered to kill him when he arrived at an oasis in the desert, is part of the missionary story that he will narrate. The lecture will be illustrated by slides made from the speaker's own photographs.

Jubilee Alumnae Hosts To Graduation Class

James Bay Hotel Scene of Delightful Annual Gathering of Nurses Last Evening—About Eighty-Five Guests Present

An occasion of ever-increasing significance, the annual reunion dinner of the Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Association, took place last night at the James Bay Hotel, when about eighty-five graduates of past years and the girls of this year's graduating class, who will receive their diplomas next week, gathered about the prettily-decked tables. In the course of the evening toasts to "Our Alma Mater," "The Graduating Class of 1933" and "The Jubilee Alumnae" elicited addresses which, in their graceful eloquence, disproved a former tradition that nurses are more expressive in action than in speech.

Miss J. Moore, the president, was in the chair, and with her on the reception committee that welcomed the visitors as they arrived were: Mrs. L. S. V. Yorke and Mrs. A. Dowell. The table, arranged in the form of an open square, was effectively decorated with the alumnae colors, mauve and gold, carried out with daffodils, tulips and tapers in crystal sconces.

THE TOASTS

Dinner began at 8 o'clock, and shortly before 9 the toasts began, being proposed and responded to as follows: "The King" (silent); "Our Alma Mater," Mrs. W. H. Bullock-Webster and Miss Lena Mitchell (superintendent of nursing at the Jubilee Hospital); "The Graduating Class of 1933," Miss M. Murfield and Miss Jane Wilson; "Jubilee Alumnae," Miss G. Alt and Miss D. Frampton. These speeches brought out some happy reminiscences and cordial expressions, some of the speakers touching on the early history of the hospital and the beginnings of the nurses' training school.

Later the guests repaired to the drawing-room and reception-hall, to enjoy a delightful programme, convened by Mrs. Langford. Those contributing to the entertainment were Miss E. Rossiter and Mrs. J. H. Russell, vocal soloists; Miss N. Walnd, elocutionist; and those taking part in the two highly amusing skits, "Breaking the News" and "Disinfecting the Doormat," the players in the former being Miss Frances Winters and Miss M. Dickson; and in the latter Miss Connie Todd, Miss "Pat" de Blacquiere and Miss Jean Stuart.

GUESTS-OF-HONOR

The guests-of-honor were Miss L. Mitchell and members of the Jubilee Hospital graduating class of 1933, as follows: Miss Joan Russell, Miss Mary Downing, Miss Beatrice Wellar, Miss V. G. Oatway, Miss W. A. M. Fairweather, Miss Isobel Blythe, Miss M. B. Cather, Miss L. R. Feikert, Miss M. A. James, Miss E. F. Lowe, Miss M. A. Hemmingson, Miss D. A. Lucas, Miss A. K. Williams, Miss P. Heyland, who presented the Heyland Cup to the Oak Bay Wanderers team, which won the city intermediate Rugby championship. Miss Porter Married to Mr. Alexander

The wedding of Florence Beatrice, daughter of Mr. Robert J. Porter, Superior Street, and of the late Mr. Porter, and Mr. Andrew Linton Brownlie Alexander, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Alexander, St. David Street, Oak Bay, was solemnized in Christ Church Cathedral at noon yesterday, Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, wore a most becoming frock of flat crepe in a warm shade of beige, with chocolate brown trimmings, her accessories all being brown. Her chic little French hat of crocheted straw was worn with a nose-vell, and she carried a shower bouquet of Columbia roses and lily of the valley, and a few sprigs of white heather, the gift of Major Ian St. Clair.

RECEPTION HELD

After the service a few near relatives gathered at the home of the bride's mother, which was charmingly arranged with vases and bowls of blue Spanish iris and deep pink snapdragons. The bride and groom were piped into the house by Captain C. R. Wilson, an old family friend, wearing the kilts of the original Gordon Highlanders in which he went overseas, to the strains of "The Road to the Isles," in tribute to the heritage of the bridal couple. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Porter, in a handsome gown of black georgette and hat to match, and by Mrs. Alexander, Sr., in a frock of bright blue beaded flat crepe and hat en suite.

Luncheon was served from a table centred with the four-tiered cake and attractively arranged with tiny silver vases filled with mauve sweet peas, yellow daisies and maidenhair fern, and tall yellow tapers in silver holders. The mantelpiece was banked with daffodils.

LEAVE FOR CHICAGO

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander left during the afternoon on a trip to Chicago, the bride traveling in a very smart imported suit of cocoa brown paddock tweed. The skirt was very long, and the short box coat was worn over a waistcoat of brown and cream check. She wore a brown fox fur, brown hat, suede shoes and gloves, and carried a matching purse, making a striking picture.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will make their home in Victoria.

Operatic Society Plans Jolly Dance

Plans are being made by the Victoria Operatic Society for a costume ball, to be held on Friday, May 12, at the Shrine Hall, at 9 o'clock. Members of the society and their friends will attend, and it is expected that the affair will attract a large crowd of guests.

With everybody in gala attire, the ball should be a most brilliant spectacle, and in addition to the regular dance numbers, there will be several special attractions which will add galety and amusement. It will be a night of real merry-making and fun, and refreshments will be served between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock. Tickets may be obtained at Fletcher Bros', music store, Douglas Street.

MUSICAL COMEDY HAS MANY STARS

"42nd Street" Opens at Dominion Theatre Today for One Week —Has Large Cast

"42nd Street," an all-inclusive dramatic musical comedy spectacle of the American Theatre, opens at the Dominion Theatre today, with an all-star cast of noted screen and stage players. The screen play, based on the popular novel of Bradford Ropes, is said to contain every ingredient that makes for a really great picture. It is snappy, colorful and packed with laughs. It has, also, a dramatic underlying theme and reveals the mammoth spectacle of a musical comedy show in preparation and when it is finished.

Because it is a story of the backstage world of the theatre, each member of the cast was selected with an eye to stage experience as well as screen talent. The stellar names include Warner Baxter, Bebe Daniels, George Brent, Una Merkel, Ruby Keeler, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks, Dick Powell, Ginger Rogers and Allen Jenkins, all of whom have been prominent on both stage and screen.

"42nd Street" has one of the most imposing picture casts since "Grand Hotel." Behind its dramatic story of the lives and loves of the stage folk, there is presented a complete musical comedy show, which has been heralded as the most novel and spectacular ever produced for the screen.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Although Charles Farrell and Joan Bennett have been contract players with Fox Films for some years, they make their first screen appearance together in "Wild Girl," current offering at the Playhouse Theatre. Raoul Walsh directed the great outdoor story adapted from the Paul Armstrong dramatization of Bret Harte's famous story, "Salomy Jane's Kiss."

COLUMBIA THEATRE "The Mysterious Rider" is a refreshing outdoor picture filmed in the country that Zane Grey selected for his story's locale. The huge picture of the modern great Southwest has been faithfully transcribed for the screen medium in all of its picturesque beauty, a surging up-to-the-minute story of the action and romance. "The Mysterious Rider" will conclude its showing at the Columbia Theatre today.

CAPITOL THEATRE After eleven months of planning his "perfect crime" in the Broadway production of the mystery comedy, "Whistling in the Dark," Ernest Truex, America's most distinguished comedian, brings his role to the screen for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, at the Capitol Theatre today. Una Merkel has the leading feminine role in a cast which also includes Edward Arnold and John Miljan. The second feature is "Deception," with Leo Carrillo and Thelma Todd.

Operatic Arias Sung by Pupils

Pupils of Madame Eva Baird were heard in an interesting recital at her studio, Laurel Lane, on Wednesday evening. The majority contributed operatic numbers, several showing highly accomplished musicianship with beautifully placed voices. The programme was as follows, with Miss Eileen Dumbleton acting as accompanist: Miss Kathleen Wilson, "Care Selve" (Handel); Miss Jenny Hall, "Pace" (Verdi); Mrs. D. Booth, "Pleurez Mes Yeux" (Massenet); Miss Violet Wilson, "Street Chance", (Michael Head) and "Siesta" (Beasley); Mrs. White, "Spirit Flower" (Campbell Tipton); Miss O. Branfoot, "Ave Maria" (Bach-Gounod); Mrs. Tyrwhitt Drake, "Margaret at the Spinning Wheel" (Schubert); Miss Doreen Wilson, "Voce di Donna" (Ponchielli); Miss Patsy Robinson, "Eyes of Spring" (Reiss); Miss Muriel Thomson, "Vol Che Sapete" (Mozart), and Mr. Hugh Renwick, "Even Bravest Heart May Swell" (Gounod).

CONCERT ENJOYED

A very appreciative audience attended the concert, which was given by the Girls' Branch of the W.A. of St. Barnabas Church, recently. Two amusing playets were presented. The cast of the first, "How the Story Grew," included Lily Beckett, Norma Holt, Marguerite Watson, Grace Harvey, Winnifred Oxendale, Dorothy Fawcett, Florence McKee and Mrs. G. Hunter. The characters of the second play were interpreted by Margaret Dobinson, Joan Henderson, Dorothy Fawcett and Pearl Jepsen.

An enjoyable musical programme given between the two plays was, as follows: Piano solos, Verna Holt and Velda Hall, and vocal solos, Mrs. C. C. Kemsley and Rev. N. E. Smith. The entire concert was under the convenership of Mrs. J. Hunter, who also directed the plays.

The class had been instructed to write an essay on Winter. One child's attempt read as follows: "In Winter it is very cold. Many old people die in Winter, and many birds also go to a warmer climate."

Danny Gets Even With Nanny

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Danny Meadow Mouse didn't say much in reply to Nanny Meadow Mouse when she scolded him for being heedless and careless the time Roughleg the Hawk so nearly caught him. There wasn't much to say. She was right, and Danny knew she was right. He knew he deserved all that she said about him. If Nanny had stopped with that one scolding Danny wouldn't have minded so much, but she didn't. Every time he started out she would warn him to be careful and to remember his narrow escape. After awhile it annoyed Danny. 'It made him cross.

"If," thought Danny, "I could only catch her being careless and heedless I guess she would stop preaching to me. I'd get even with her then."

But Nanny is naturally a timid little body, and like most timid folks she seldom does foolish things which may get her into trouble. So Danny began to think that he would have to listen until the end of his days to Nanny's warnings and reminders of his heedlessness.

It really did seem as if Danny never would have a chance to catch Nanny doing anything careless or heedless and he had almost given up hope of anything of the kind when his chance came. He had discovered some seeds of a certain kind of which Nanny was very fond. They were quite a long distance from the nearest of Danny's tunnels. It would take a long time and a lot of hard work to tunnel over to them, but it was a very easy matter to scamper across the snow to them. They would first make sure that no danger was in sight, then, while one kept watch the other would scamper across, get some of the seeds, and then scamper back. So they would take turns, one always keeping watch for the other.

Now, Nanny was especially fond of these seeds. It seemed as if she never could get enough of them. The more she had the more she wanted. Perhaps you know just how she felt. Anyway, she was forever teasing Danny to keep watch while she went for more of those seeds. Two or three times it happened that the one on watch saw danger approaching and gave the alarm. They agreed that it wouldn't be safe for either one to venture so far away unless the other was on watch.

There she was running from one to another

One night when Mistress Moon was shining her brightest and the snow-covered Green Meadows were almost as light as in the daytime Danny returned home from a little trip around through his tunnels to find that Nanny was missing. At first he didn't think anything about it, but as time went on and she didn't return he started out to look for her. His nose told him in which direction she had gone. Following his nose he came to the end of the little tunnel nearest the place where the seeds Nanny likes so much were. Poking his head out of the little round doorway at the end of the tunnel Danny looked over to the patch of weeds which bore the seeds Nanny likes so well. There she was running from one to another and it was plain to see that she had forgotten every single thing but the feast she was having on those seeds.

Hastily Danny looked this way and that way. Suddenly his heart almost stopped beating. Not far away was what looked like a shadow in the air, a shadow that was moving. It was moving straight toward where Nanny was having such a good time. All too well Danny knew that it wasn't a shadow.

"Hooty, the Owl! Run, Nanny! Run!" he shouted in his funny, squeaky voice.

Nanny knew by the sound of Danny's voice that he wasn't trying to fool her. She didn't ever stop to look, but scampered straight for where Danny was waiting. Danny ducked down so as to give her room, and just in the very nick of time she dived in. Hooty's great claws already were reaching for her. Danny didn't say a word, but led the way home. When they got there Nanny was still trembling from the fright she had had.

"Danny," she sobbed, "I never, never, never will say another word to you about being careless and heedless. I never will."

She never did. And though now he had the chance to get even Danny wisely never mentioned her own heedlessness.

WOOD CUTTING TO BE INVESTIGATED

Saanich Central Ratepayers' Association Requests Detailed Information From Council

A request for detailed information regarding the handling of the relief scheme whereby unemployed in Saanich cut firewood on reverted lands and have it delivered to their homes will be requested from the Saanich Council by the Central Ratepayers' Association, it was decided at a meeting of the latter body Thursday night. Many delegates spoke on the subject, and the matter will be brought up at the next meeting. T. Sergeant, president, was in the chair.

A lengthy discussion on taxation matters took place, with delegates from all wards voicing their views. The discussion promoted better understanding between the farmer representatives and the inner wards, as several small points of contention were ironed out. The general opinion voiced was, that the tax on cleared land should be remitted, as it placed a penalty on industry and penalized the man who cleared his property. The improvement tax was also subject to criticism, and a "Service" tax, according to the amount of service an individual receives from the municipality, was suggested. No resolutions were passed.

DELEGATION APPOINTED

At the suggestion of the chair, a delegation was appointed to visit the next meeting of the new organization of Ward Two non-political ratepayers. The chairman pointed out that in unity was strength, and he believed it would be to the advantage of both parties for the association to affiliate with the Central Ratepayers' Association. A motion to the effect that a delegation should attend the meeting at Cloverdale School on Wednesday of the Non-Political Association with a view to uniting was passed unanimously.

Ward Seven representative announced that a dance in aid of children of unemployed will be held at Mount View High School on May 12. The support of all wards was requested.

ismisses Charge Against Chinese

There is not sufficient evidence show that the accused was acely engaged in a lottery," Magiste Jay remarked in the City Po Court yesterday morning when hissing the charge of gambling ought against Bing Wo and three er Chinese, who were charged h being found in a gaming resort. he only evidence produced by police officers was that loose books of Chinese lottery tickets were found on the premises on Government Street. The accused denied they were his property.

Frank Higgins, K.C., conducted the trial for the defence and C. L. Harrison for the prosecution.

What Today Means

"TAURUS"

If April 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 5:50 a.m. to 7:25 a.m., from 9:35 a.m. to 10:40 a.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6:35 p.m. The danger periods are from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and from 9:40 p.m. to 10:55 p.m.

If you wish to make your point on this April 29 you will have to do it by persuasion and not by argument. It will be difficult to lead people on this day; they will have to be gently urged and pushed. Children should be kept closely under the surveillance of their elders, for they are likely to be up to much devilry on this day.

The child born on this April 29 will seem to be constantly getting in scrapes and trouble of one sort or another; an active little one, quick to anger and equally quick to forget and forgive; athletically inclined, but fond also of mental diversions. Both the boys and girls will make themselves useful around the home.

If April 29 is your birthday, you are undoubtedly a very responsible person. As a confidential adviser or assistant, you would do well. You are at times inclined to be a little headstrong, but, if reasoned with, you can usually be made to see the right course to follow. You have a tendency to be impulsive and quite often you speak hastily and "out of turn." Both sexes are popular with their friends and invariably, when the emergency arises, they prove themselves to be the "friend in need." The women are inclined to be capricious and it is difficult to know just what to expect from them next. They take great joy in purely social activities and seldom do they miss a bridge, tea or dance to which they are asked. They are inclined to overdress and to wear too much jewelry.

Born on April 29, you are not the one to "kick" or complain about your lot in life. You do your best, and after that you take things as they come, and, without grumbling, make the best of them. You get a great deal of pleasure out of other people's children, but you are not one who would like to have a large family of your own. The men will spend a great deal of time at home and will enjoy many quiet hours therein.

SKETCH CLUB

The Sketch Club of the Island Arts and Crafts, will hold an exhibition of the work from models and still life accomplished by the indoor sketching classes which have been held during the Winter months and which will now close, as the season of out-of-door sketching is about to begin. On Tuesday afternoon, from 2:30 o'clock and continuing during the evening, the exhibition of pastels, watercolors, etc., will be open to members and the interested public in the club room of the Arts and Crafts, Yates and Langley Streets. Afternoon tea will be served.

Northwestern International Bowling Congress Gets Away to Fine Start

Big Crowd Watches Official Ceremony At Olympic Alleys

H. D. Twigg Welcomes Visitors on Behalf of Province—Alderman Adam and Other Dignitaries Attend—Empress Leads Boosters

With the newly-built stands packed to capacity, H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., and Deputy Speaker of the British Columbia Legislature, representing Premier S. F. Tolmie, officially opened the twenty-first annual Northwestern International Bowling Congress at the Olympic Alleys last night when he rolled the first ball down No. 1 alley. Mr. Twigg took eight of the ten pins, and was the most successful of the dignitaries who officiated at the opening ceremony.

Mr. Twigg, in a pleasing and brief speech, welcomed the bowlers on behalf of the Province of British Columbia. He stated that the Capital city was proud to extend a hand of fellowship to the American and other visitors and he hoped that they would enjoy their visit here. Mr. Twigg stressed the importance of sport in cementing friendly relations between countries and stated that bowling was one of the greatest of indoor games. He was given a great hand when he dropped eight of the ten pins when opening the alley.

Alderman James Adam, acting on behalf of Mayor Leeming, welcomed the bowlers to the city and wished them all kinds of luck in their endeavors. "Jimmy" spoke well but his bowling was not so good and it cost him a box of cigars in his special match with Lester Patrick. His ball went into the gutter, while Lester, after showing perfect form, picked off the seven pin and the cigars. Harold Husband, Chief of Police Heatley, Chief Alex Munroe of the fire department, and A. G. Hawkins also shared in the opening ceremony.

PRESIDENT ON HAND

Mr. Twigg was introduced by J. H. Vollans, president of the congress, who hails from Vancouver.

Mr. Vollans, in a brief address, stated that the alleys of the Olympic Recreations were the finest that the congress had ever bowled on. He praised the work of Secretary Garnet Hudson and Rowan Mackenzie, manager of the local alleys, and thanked Mr. Twigg and the other dignitaries for their help in making the official opening such an auspicious occasion.

Empress Hotel No. 2 squad of trundlers took the lead in the opening round of the Booster's Division by toppling 2379 pins. Right on the heels of the hotel crew came McDonald's Consolidated, Limited, with 2345 pins opposite their name. Scott & Peden were third with a total of 2275. The scores were comparatively low, the majority of the competitors were trying too hard to chalk up high totals, and as a result made several glaring mistakes.

Cyril Baker, of McDonald's Consolidated, Limited, led the individual and aggregate scorers with 225 and 541, respectively. Baker toppled his high single total in the second game and then scored 169 and 147 for his high game total.

GOLF HONORS WON BY MRS. MACFARLANE

Defeats Miss Fitzgibbon in Eighteen-Hole Final on Last Green

Shooting a steady brand of golf, Mrs. Macfarlane sprang a mild surprise in the final of the women's championship of the Royal Colwood Golf Club yesterday afternoon by defeating Miss Fitzgibbon, one up, over the eighteen-hole distance. Ideal weather greeted the finalists and a good gallery treked along. Following the match, Mrs. Angus Campbell presented the prizes and championship trophy to the winner.

The pair matched stroke for stroke the entire distance. They reached the half-way mark all square, the lead switching from one to the other during the nine. When the pair reached the fifteenth, Mrs. Macfarlane was two up and it looked as if the match would end during the next couple of holes, but at this stage, Miss Fitzgibbon staged a determined rally and won the sixteenth and seventeenth to square the match.

Both played the eighteenth steadily and Miss Fitzgibbon had a twelve inch putt for a half and sent the match to extra holes, but she handed the crown to her opponent when her putter failed her, the ball rimming the cup, and the match ended.

Mrs. C. E. Wilson captured first flight honors by defeating Mrs. J. H. Richardson, 3 and 2, while Mrs. Leeming took the measure of Mrs. R. L. Pocock in the second flight final, 3 and 2.

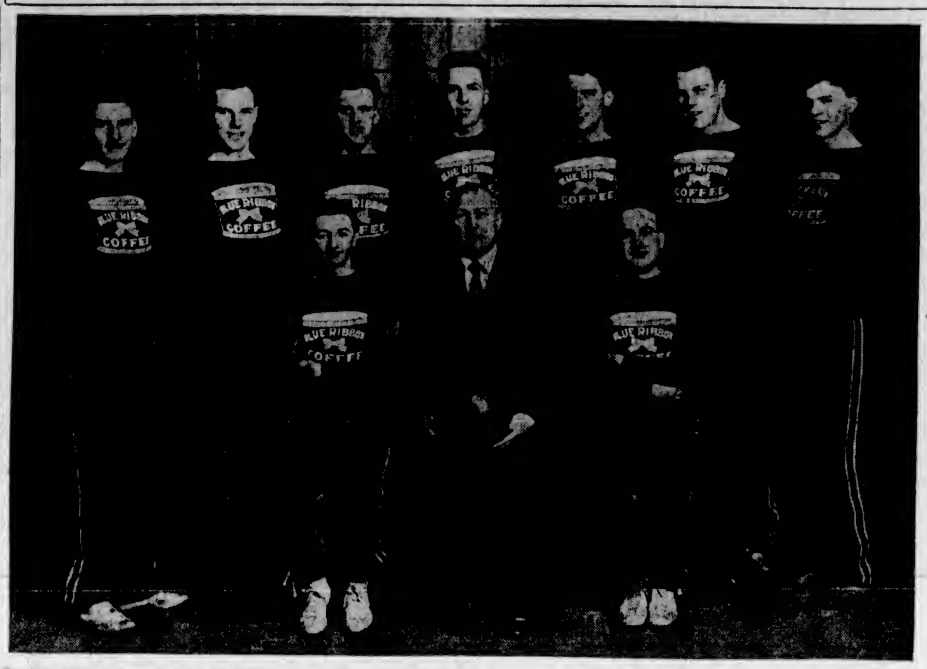

Motorist: How far is it to Turnville?

Inhabitant: Well, it's thousands of miles in the direction you are going; but if you turn round and go the other way it's just three miles.

Brown Betty Takes 1,000 Guineas Race

William Woodward's Fillie Captures Important Classic — Fur Tor Second and Myrobella Third—Odds on Famous Derby Shift

NEWMARKET, England, April 28 (AP).—Brown Betty, owned by William Woodward, today won the 1,000 Guineas, first of the two English classics for fillies.

W. M. G. Singer's Fur Tor was second, a half-length back with Lord Lonsdale's Myrobella, the favorite, third, three-quarters of a length behind Fur Tor.

The race, of which today's running was the 125th renewal, is at the mile. It drew the pick of the fillies in training in England, twenty-two going to the post.

The purse is 1,000 guineas with extras which bring the total value to around $30,000.

Brown Betty was an outsider in the betting at eight to one. Fur Tor was 100 to six and Myrobella, which won five of six starts last year as a two-year-old, five to one.

Brown Betty is undefeated in her racing career, the Thousand Guineas being her fifth consecutive victory.

ODDS ON DERBY SHIFT

LONDON, April 28 (CP).—Running of the first classic of the season, the Two Thousand Guineas, was sharply reflected in tonight's callover of odds on the Derby to be run May 31.

The French colt, Rodostro, winner of the Two Thousand, and King Salmon, who finished second, were installed joint Derby favorites at 100 to nine.

Hyperion and Gino, who was third in the Two Thousand, were split at 100 to eight and right behind at 100 to seven was Scarlet Tiger.

Other Odds: 100 to six against Manitoba and Lochiel, winner of the Craven Stakes; eighteen to one against Feicitation, twenty-five to one against Young Lover, twenty-five to one against Statesman and Harinero, thirty-three to one against Light Sussex and Interlace and forty to one against Alexander.

Two new batters gained places in baseball's big six yesterday as Sam West, of the St. Louis Browns, followed the lead of the American League leaders in hitting hard, and Pie Traynor failed to connect and keep his average above that of Johnny Vergez, of the idle New York Giants.

Johnny Fredericks

West made three hits in five attempts to pass Johnny Hodapp and take third place in the American League. Jimmie Foxx went into second place, hitting two out of four to equal the record of the league leader, Fred Shulte, and of Dick Bartell, the only National League member in action. Traynor failed to connect in three attempts and lost his third place in the National.

RIBBONS TO FACE EASTERN WINNERS AT WILLOWS GYM

Local Quintette All Primed for Opening of Important Series Against Windsor-Walkerville This Evening—Acting Mayor James Adam to Open Fixture—Big Crowd Expected

Boasting of one of the finest machines ever to bear the colors of the East, Windsor-Walkerville, rulers of Eastern basketball circles, will march on the floor at the Willows gymnasium tonight to battle Blue Ribbons, provincial and Western titleholders, in the first of a three-out-of-five-game series for the men's senior Canadian championship. Both squads are primed to a high pitch and when the winners are crowned, one of the hardest-fought series in history is expected to be written in the books. Ladysmith seniors will meet C.P.S. in the preliminary, starting at 8 o'clock, and the main attraction is due to get under way an hour later with Tommy Macedo, Victoria, and E. L. "Buck" Yeo, Vancouver, in charge. Acting Mayor James Adam will toss the ball for the opening.

Windsor-Walkerville will arrive this afternoon and will go out for a short workout on the floor before the game tonight. Although the visitors will be leg weary from the long trip across the continent, they will go into the first battle on even terms. When they came to the Coast a few years ago, to meet New Westminster Adanacs in the final, they captured the first game, which means the Ribbons cannot take them too lightly in the opener.

CROWD EXPECTED

No local squad ever deserved or needed the whole-hearted support of Victorians for this series as do the Ribbons. In order to make the series a financial success, local officials have launched a strenuous campaign, and it is hoped that the citizens will turn out in large numbers to support the first team the Capital City has ever had in a Canadian final. The Ribbons fought a great uphill battle to reach the final, eliminating University of British Columbia in two games, total points, after trailing fourteen points in the first fixture. This victory put added confidence in the boys and they proceeded to oust Raymond Union Jacks, Alberta champions, in two straight. It is not necessary to delve into the record of the local quintette. The name is a byword to every basketball fan in the city, if not the province, as this season they have established a record that will stand for many a day in Western Canada.

LYNN PATRICK OUT

Sad news crept into the Ribbons' camp, yesterday, when it was learned that Lynn Patrick, brilliant sharpshooting right forward, will be out of the first game, due to the flu. Lyn is expected to be in uniform for the second game, Monday evening. He will hear the game over the radio, and his heart and soul will be right in the battle from the first blast of the whistle. Johnny Craig, smart, but diminutive forward, will start in Lynn's place, and should be a constant worry to Windsor's back division.

"Chuck" Chapman, giant guard of the tea merchants, will open on the defence along with Joe Ross, while Art Chapman will look after the tip-off position, flanked on the wings by Muzz Patrick, high-scoring ace, and Johnny Craig. Tommy Little and Alf McKeown will be substitute guards, and Claude Sluggett spare forward. Manager Cook sent the boys through their final workout Thursday evening and is confident that they will bring the title to Victoria.

Formed by a band of youngsters anxious to continue their basketball after leaving school, the Windsor-Walkerville quintette has carried on for seven years, and still retains two members of the original squad. Don King, ranked as one of Canada's premier guards, and Bill Butcher, ace forward, are the "originals." Eddie Dawson, left guard, and Gordie Aitchison, right forward, have been with the Alumni for five years, and Julius Goldman, centre. Jim Stewart and George Taylor, for three seasons. "Toots" Meretsky and Glen Stewart, substitutes, are additions to the team this year. Gordie Fuller has been manager since the squad first organized, and until this year was also coach. Lou Davies, formerly of Detroit, who coached a team which won the United States National Y.M.C.A. honors, is now coaching instead of Fuller. All are making the trip to Victoria.

FINE RECORD

The Alumni captured the Eastern title in 1927, '28, '29, and again this year. Only once have they suffered defeat in the Ontario finals, in 1930, when Assumption Grads took the provincial laurels. In 1928 they won the Canadian crown by defeating University of British Columbia after a strenuous series. The Windsor squad are noted for pulling off the "screening" play, which, if worked properly, will bring scoring results from close quarters. However, they will have to work fast to execute this play against such experienced guards as Chuck Chapman and Joe Ross, who are rated with the best on Canadian soil.

Speed will be the keynote of the game, as both teams are exceptionally fast and noted for their stamina. The new ten second rule, which prevents a team from retaining possession of the ball in its own territory, has forced both teams to throw aside stalling tactics. The rule has done much to heighten interest in the game from the spectators' point of view. Another thing, both teams have great scoring punch, and that indefinable quality known as "color."

DRAW IS OUT FOR UPLANDS CLUB TOURNEY

Over Forty to Seek Championship Tomorrow—Morrison to Defend Title

Over forty will face the starter in the thirty-six-hole qualifying round of the men's championship of the Uplands Golf Club tomorrow morning according to the draw and starting times released by Secretary John Caven yesterday. Lanky Bob Morrison, long-hitting ace of the city golfdom, will be on hand to defend his crown and will go to the barrier, a strong favorite to repeat.

BOB MORRISON

Sixteen low gross scorers will form the championship flight, while the remainder of the field will be divided into flight of eight. A strong contingent of clubmembers will go after the crown adorning the brow of Morrison and a great tournament is expected to be recorded before the 1933 titleholder ascends the throne.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Bugaboo of Technocracy—The Pretzel came into being as the work of Emperor Charlemagne, who forced the subjected heathen Saxons to bake a cross into their dough, in sign of their conversion. According to Mr. Charles Betz, pretzel executive of St. Louis, no machine has ever been invented to match the human hand in its ability to properly twist the pretzel dough. Dough has life—according to Mr. Betz—and it takes a human being to bend it to his will.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP).—While 25,000 eager fans waited for war to break out any minute, the Washington Senators nosed out the Yankees today, 4-3, in ten innings of a mild and decorous ball game that was like anything but the riotous proceedings that featured their last clash in in Washington, Tuesday.

JOE McCARTHY

With Ben Chapman on the sidelines for the Yankees, Buddy Myer and Earl Whitehill banished from the Washington array by the American League president, William Harridge, for their part in Tuesday's fisticuffs, both the Yanks and Senators leaned backward, being polite to each other.

Babe Ruth hit his fourth home run of the season and Bill Dickey his first, in a losing cause.

REG HOPKINS PINS FENLON

Captures Feature Bout on Local Wrestling Card at Pacific Stadium Last Night

Reg Hopkins took the feature bout on last night's wrestling card presented by Promoter "Winnipeg" Chilton at the Pacific Stadium by pinning Lloyd Fenlon in the second and fifth rounds. Fenlon evened the match in the third but Hopkins came back to take the decision in the fifth with a body slam and press.

Bruce Lowe won from Lou Baker, who substituted for Danny Pastroe, with falls in the second and third rounds with body presses. Lowe outweighed his opponent by fifteen pounds and held a decided advantage throughout. This bout was a mixed affair of boxing and wrestling. "Spider" Mascal and the "Masked Marvel" wrestled to a draw, each gaining a fall. The Masked Marvel took the first fall in the second but Mascal came back to even the count in the fourth. Bill Stein and Alan Gardiner grappled to a draw, each taking a fall, while Young Sonnenberg and Young Ernie Arthurs wrestled to another draw. Forty unemployed from the recreation room were guests of the promoter.

JUNIOR SOCCER HEAD LEAVING

Tommy Briggs Going Back to Old Country Today—Presented With Medal

Victoria will lose one of its most popular and energetic football officials this evening, when Tommy Briggs boards the midnight boat for the Mainland en route to his home town, Swansea, Wales. For the past twenty years, Briggs has been connected with local soccer in the capacity of manager and official, and his departure will be a great loss, especially to the Junior League, of which he was president.

As a token of his untiring work in junior circles during the past two years as their president, Briggs was presented with a beautiful gold medal by Percy Payne, president of the Lower Island association. A few seasons back, Briggs headed the Junior players for two years and guided them through successful campaigns. As a manager, he coached and trained the Foundation Company eleven and Yarrows.

Rally Wipes Out Early Losses at New York Mart

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP).—Stocks were reluctant to decline today, and after losing fractions to a couple of points on a slow sag, recovered smartly in late trading.

Generally speaking, the rally accomplished little more than the recovery of what had been lost, though motor and steel shares pushed up more agrressively than did most other industrials, the utilities or rails. The market looked rather professional all day, its final spurt coinciding with the defeat of bonus legislation by the United States Senate.

Expanding steel mill activity and favorable reports on automobile production gave comfort to those who are impressed by the tenor of current business trends. Rails, heavy in the morning, hardened on the final upturn. Southern Railway issues made new highs for the year. Anaconda and Cerro de Pasco dipped a point, then rallied. Sales totaled 2,163,630 shares.

Sogginess of United States dollar exchange attracted little attention marketwise, being attributed largely to technical adjustments. The relative strength of foreign currencies had no influence on the earlier stock trading, which saw a general letdown of quoted values.

The Administration's new railroad bill, and other measures simmering on Congressional fires, failed to stimulate the bond market today, and prices generally shifted about uncertainly in a narrow range.

Railway llens were decidedly irregular.

There was little either way in the utilities and industrials.

United States Government securities were dull and slightly lower. Bonds of Germany, France and Great Britain were irregular; but the Argentines, Australians and Belgians rallied.

Futures Decline Throughout Session at Winnipeg—Trading Is Light

WINNIPEG, April 28 (CP).—Further inroads upon price gains earlier in the week were made today as wheat futures prices, trading below the previous close for the entire session, finished a quiet day on the Winnipeg grain market as much as 1 cent lower.

Further liquidation by weary holders in final dealings added to fractional declines suffered early in the session, and futures finally ended 1 to 7-8 cent down; May, at 55 3-4; July, 57, and October, 59 to 59 1-8 cents.

Aside from selling in the May delivery, which matures next month, little of interest was apparent. Absence of export dampened any enthusiasm and volume of transactions was small. Trading lagged for most of the session.

No estimate was given of the amount taken by foreign importers, but it was known not to be large.

Only 2,000,000 bushels were exported from Australia, compared to 4,000,000 bushels last week. As expected, a large increase over the previous week was reported for Argentina, 4,788,000 bushels being cleared.

Country deliveries of grain, Thursday, amounted to 400,000 bushels. Only 150,000 bushels were taken in at elevators on the same day last year. Trading in cash and coarse grains was featureless.

British Funds About Face at New York, Gaining More Than Seven Cents

NEW YORK, April 28 (CP). — Turning right about-face today, the pound sterling soared 7 1-2 cents in active trading on the New York Foreign Exchange Market to close at $3.79 1-2 for cables, its high for the day. The Canadian dollar also rose, ending the day 3-4 of a cent stronger at 87 cents. The premium on United States funds declined to 15 per cent.

The pound advanced in the face of an Anglo-Franco stabilization accord, and dealers here were unable to interpret the swift turn about of trend.

The pound made its largest advances during the afternoon, having opened at $3.74 3-4, and later touching $3.72 1-2 for its low point of the day. The Canadian dollar opened at 85 5-8 cents.

AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP).—In sympathy with the advance in New York, the pound sterling gained nearly three and a half cents on Montreal foreign exchanges today. The United States dollar declined while the majority of foreign currencies were higher as a result of the upturn in the pound.

The pound opened with an overnight advantage and closed at its high of the day, $4.35 5-8, up 3 7-16 cents. United States funds were higher at the opening but gradually eased lower during the day, to close at 15 1-4 per cent premium, down 5-8 of 1 per cent. The French franc gained .03 of a cent at 5.03 cents.

TO CLOSE FOR MAY DAY

LONDON, April 28 (AP). — The Stock Exchange here will be closed on Monday, May 1, May Day.

Stock Prices Little Changed at Close of Eastern Exchanges

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP).—Although a recovery movement made its appearance in late trading it was not strong enough to lift Montreal Stock Exchange prices from their low levels today. As a result, listings closed with a generally lower tone.

The late recovery was inspired by the upturn in Wall Street, but it only served to reduce some of the leaders' losses. The downward tendency was experienced throughout the session, which produced a turnover of approximately 14,000 shares.

Base metals, neglected for the last two days, were once again the centre of interest. International Nickel finished the day with a gain of 25 cents at 15.00, after selling at 14.25, while Consolidated Smelters closed unchanged at 90; Hollinger was 10 cents higher at 8.60.

Canadian Pacific Railway rose to 12 1-2 at the close, a gain of 1-8. Brazilian Traction closed unchanged at 9 1-4, while Montreal Power was up 1-3 at 29.

Construction issues were lower after yesterday's late advance. Canada Cement preferred lost 4 points at 18, while the common was down 3-4 at 4.

Ogilvie Flour established a new high for the year at 124, where it was 11 points higher. Lake of the Woods Milling preferred also touched a new maximum at 40, a gain of 7 points.

Bank of Commerce declined to new low at 119, down a point. Bank of Montreal was unchanged at 152.

Sales 13,879 shares, bonds $34,300.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—A sharp reversal of form developed in the Toronto Stock Market in the last few minutes of trading today, and a number of losses were converted into gains. Prices had receded gradually through most of the day in sympathy with a slumping Wall Street trend, but defeat of the soldier bonus amendment at Washington turned Wall Street up and the Toronto market followed.

Consolidated Smelters and International Nickel responded quickly to the change of sentiment and Smelters climbed to a new high of the year at 90 7-8, a net gain of 5-8.

Nickel closed at $15 with a net gain of 25 cents. More than 10,000 shares were traded. C.P.R. and Ford "A" wiped out early losses and Brazilian finished 1-4 down at 9 1-4.

Much interest was shown today in beer stocks, reports having circulated some breweries were getting good orders from the United States. National Brewers, after long absence from the active trading list, came out at 18 1-4, up 2 3-4, while Brewers & Distillers of Vancouver was up 15 points to 100. Walkers common was in more active demand and closed a fraction higher at 6.

Oil shares traded heavily and all closed lower except International Petroleum and Supertest ordinary. Pete gained 1-8 to 14 3-8. Continuance of profit taking carried construction stocks lower. Canada Cement preferred lost 4 3-4 points and the common 3-4, Canada Dredge was down 1-2.

Bank stocks reversed their recent trend and moved ahead.

TORONTO MINING MARKET

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—The big gold shares closed with an unbroken row of gains, today, on the Standard Exchange, after declining through several sessions this week. Washington news gave the market support from the opening today, interrupted by a weak spell around noon. Base metal shares were helped by a Wall Street upturn in the late afternoon, and silver shares, following a strong opening, lost a little ground before the close.

Sales picked up in volume as the market showed signs of firming. McIntyre made the best recovery, finishing 1.30 better at 28.35. Lakeshore gained 85 cents to 36.60, Dome 20 to $19, Hollinger 20 to 8.60, Pioneer 45 to 7.95, Wright Hargreaves 8 to 4.82, and Teck-Hughes 7 to 4.35. Bralorne was 40 cents stronger at 4.40.

Base metal stocks were at the day's top in the last few minutes with exception of Smelters, which finished 2.50 off at $87.50. Nickel closed at $15 for a gain of 25 cents, Sudbury Basin improved 5 to 1.05, Sherritt 1 to 52, while Hudson Bay, Noranda and Pend Oreille were down 5 cents or less each and Coast Copper 75 cents.

Medium-priced gold shares came forward smartly in the late trading under heavy buying. In the silver group, Nipissing and Mining Corporation gained 2 cents each, Eldorado down 2, and Castle unchanged at 38.

Penny shares reported more losses than gains.

COAGULATING THE TONSILS

There has been so much said for and against the method of removing tonsils by coagulation—destroying tonsil tissue by electricity—that you may wonder if this method should ever be used.

Dr. S. R. Skillern, Philadelphia, says that every throat specialist should be expert on this method, not that he will use it often, but because there are some cases where this is the best, or perhaps the only method that can be used.

"For the average tonsil case the electro-coagulation method, which means many applications of the needle to the tonsils and a number of trips to the surgeon's office for these applications, cannot be compared for a moment with that of a clean operation by the knife done by a well-trained surgeon."

Dr. R. A. Barlow, Rochester, N.Y., believes that the electro-coagulation method requires more care, judgment and skill than does the usual surgical method. The danger is that in an effort to lessen the number of visits to the surgeon's office, and the natural endeavor to get the infected tonsils completely removed as soon as possible, too much tonsil tissue is often destroyed at the one time, resulting in pain and considerable delay, before the next coagulation of tissue can be done. By blanching or destroying a number of small parts of the tonsils and letting these small parts gradually join one another, this over-coagulation may be prevented.

If the patient has had a number of attacks of tonsilitis or quinsy (abscess of the tonsil) and undergoes the electro-coagulation method for removing tonsils, it sometimes happens that he may develop another attack of quinsy. The point here, of course, is that this method should not be used too soon after an attack of tonsilitis or quinsy.

Dr. F. B. Balmer, Chicago, says that this method cannot replace the surgical method—removal by the knife. Surgery will continue to be the method used in the majority of cases, that is, where there is no particular reason why the electro-coagulation method should be used.

However, in Dr. Balmer's opinion, electro-coagulation is best suited for certain cases. It is a safe method but requires time, judgment, skill, patience, and the most extreme care.

THE CRACK OF DOOM

The "Crack of Doom" is a familiar expression to denote the Judgment Day, or Day of Doom at the end of the world, when, in the belief of some people, all souls will be judged.

This may sound like the phrase-making of a modern evangelist. But as a matter of fact it dates back as far as 1606, and takes its origin in Shakespeare's tragedy of Macbeth.

It is in the fourth act, in the scene between Macbeth and the witches, as the apparitions of the eight kings appear before Macbeth that he says, after seeing the first four:

"Why do you show me this? A fourth! Start, eyes!
What, will the line stretch out to the crack of doom?"

"He's on the Stock Market."
"On the Kerb?"
"He was on the kerb, but now he's in the gutter."

PUBLIC NOTICE RE GORGE BRIDGE
NOTICE is hereby given that the Gorge Bridge is closed to all traffic until further notice. This action has been taken owing to the fact that the bridge is absolutely unsafe and if the bridge is left open to pedestrians there is a possibility of a large number of persons assembling thereon, which is extremely dangerous. The Saanich Council, in conjunction with the Esquimalt Council, is giving the matter consideration, and, in so far as pedestrians are concerned, some arrangement will probably be made in the near future.

MURDER IN EDEN
by Charles Winfield Smith

CHAPTER XXIX

Dorotha sat at the desk in her boudoir poring over a sheaf of papers covered with mathematical calculations. She made one final addition and then stared at the result.

Her breathing was heavy. She ran her fingers through her hair and gasped.

"That much!" she exclaimed. "I didn't realize it was so much."

She reached into a pigeonhole and drew forth a pile of cancelled checks. Quickly she ran through them, setting down the figures of each one on a sheet of paper. When she had finished she rapidly added up the column. Then she checked this total against the total of her previous calculation.

Dazedly, she stared at the two sets of figures. Then:

"One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars!" she gasped. "It doesn't seem possible."

She pushed the papers back and quietly closed the desk. She went to the vanity and smoothed her hair and clothes. Quietly, she went into the drawing-room and on to the front step, where she picked up the morning paper.

Opening it, her eyes fell on the screaming black headlines which told of Lillian Hull's confession to the murder of Richard Bailey and her being charged with the attack on Nanette Lekto. A quizzical smile flashed across her countenance.

Without further ado she went into her employer's boudoir, drew back the curtains and raised the shades. The room was flooded with the mid-morning sunlight.

Nanette stirred sleepily and grumbled. But when she opened her eyes and saw Dorotha she bolted upright. Dorotha handed her the newspaper.

Hungrily, she read the account of Lillian's arrest and confession. She read with intense interest that portion of the article which dealt with Chivington's death. A self-confident gleam crept into her eye.

"It serves her right," she cried heatedly. "The little devil."

Dorotha smiled. "You're safe now," she exclaimed. "There's no need for you to go to the police this morning, as you said you would."

"No," Nanette returned musingly, "there isn't. I wonder . . ." Her words trailed off into silence.

"You wonder if it was she that left that fake message?" Dorotha supplemented hastily.

She had accomplished her purpose. The seed was planted. Nanette's eyes blazed angrily. The color mounted to her cheeks.

"She loved Bailey!" she cried. "She would do anything to hold him. I was taking him away from her. I was buying him. Dorotha, I was buying him with my own money." She became almost fanatical. "I didn't want him. I wanted what he could do for me."

"Do you know how much you paid him since I came with you?" subtly, Nanette cast a questioning glance at her secretary.

"Do you?" she countered.

"I figured it up only this morning," with appropriate servility. "You gave Richard Bailey one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars."

Nanette gasped. "How much?" she asked, as if unable to believe what she had heard.

"One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars," Dorotha repeated.

The actress' eyes contracted. Her lips grew thin and white. The color drained from her face.

Dorotha sat down on the edge of the bed. "You can't fool me, Nanette," she almost whispered. "I know you too well—perhaps as well as you know yourself."

The actress looked at the other querulously.

"Richard Bailey blackmailed you out of that money," she went on, as if afraid someone might hear. "You didn't want Bailey. No. I know you didn't. You did want what he could do for you, but you didn't want even that enough to pay that price for it. He blackmailed you, Nanette, he exacted a price . . ."

"Yes, he did!" Nanette screamed. "He did blackmail me. He found out in some way about that affair in New Orleans. He made me pay his price for keeping silent. He knew it would ruin me. And," she added huskily, "he's paid for doing it, too."

Dorotha smiled enigmatically. "He paid dearly," she said quietly.

The actress caught the other woman's hand and squeezed it until Dorotha winced with pain. Fiercely, she demanded: "You're not going to tell, are you?"

"You know I'm not." Dorotha returned. "You have been my friend . . ."

"You have been more than a friend to me," Nanette interrupted. "You have been my confidante. When I could talk to no one else I could talk to you—to ease my mind."

"Of course," Dorotha agreed hastily.

Nanette gazed into her eyes for a moment. She was trying to say something, but the words would not come. But at last she found her voice.

"Dorotha, why did you ever come to Hollywood?" she blurted out. "You have often told me of your home—of your mother . . ."

The little blonde turned her eyes away from the other. A sob burst from her lips. Hastily, she wiped away a bit of moisture from her cheek.

"Just like you, Nanette," she said slowly, "I wanted the fame and fortune that the movies would bring to me—if I could be successful. That was after I won a beauty contest back home. I was vain. I thought the studios would throw open their doors to me. But I was wrong.

"I found Hollywood cold and hard. The price it would exact for giving me a chance was more than I would pay. I had been a stenographer and when I found that I could not break into the movies on ability alone I went back to my typewriter. I heard in a roundabout way that you needed a secretary and companion and so I came to you."

"Being alone in Hollywood, when here is so much laughter and gaiety about, is a heavy cross to bear," Nanette said sympathetically.

"Oh," quickly, "I wasn't alone at first. I had Buddy with me . . ."

"Your brother?"

"My sister. Buddy was my pet name for her. She is a pretty thing, about two years younger than I am."

"What became of her?" Nanette pressed her.

She came home one night just as happy as a kid. She told me she was going to be married and that her husband had a good job in the studios and that he had promised to make a star out of her."

"Did he?"

Dorotha scowled. "I never saw her after that." She hesitated and added: "But once."

"Why didn't you go to the man?" "I didn't know who he was," hopelessly. "I didn't even know at which studio he worked. How was I to find out?"

Nanette drew her down on her bosom and held her close. Dorotha's soft body was wracked with sobs. She tried to comfort her, spoke soothing words to her.

"Oh, if I just had Buddy back!" she moaned. "Poor Buddy."

"You'll get her back some day," Nanette whispered. "She'll come back to you some day."

"No," brokenly, "I'm afraid she'll never come back!"

Nanette did not know what to say. What could she say at a time like this? There was nothing that was adequate.

"She was such a kid," Dorotha sobbed. "She didn't know what she was doing. She saw a great shining moon and she reached for it. But it was too far away."

The actress caught her breath. What was Dorotha saying? "She saw a great shining moon and she reached for it. But it was too far away." Was that her own fate? Was the glittering moon of movie stardom too far away for her to reach?

Of course not! Why was she allowing such thoughts to creep into her mind? Had she not already managed to make herself the most talked-of-woman in Hollywood? Had she not been promised a big part in Bailey's next picture?

In Bailey's next picture? But Bailey was gone! Richard Bailey was dead! There would be no "next picture." What would be her fate? Had she reached for the moon and found it too far away?

The telephone rang. Dorotha jumped as if she had been shot. She gazed wildly about and then fled from the room.

Nanette stared after her, then, slowly, answered the 'phone. It was Rodolf Holmes.

"Nanette," he said, and his voice seemed harsh, " are you going to let an innocent girl suffer for Bailey's murder?"
